Prologue

In the beginning there was thought. Because of thought, reason came into being. A different reason exists for each of us . . . why we came to Eastern, why we stayed here, why. . . .

Perhaps it was the search for new friends or for that "special one." It could have been for the growth and development of the intellect. And it may have been to extend the fun and pleasure of high school days.

One reason, however, was consistent among all of us—the desire to satisfy our search for Life's unanswered questions.

Every moment of life cannot be captured in a yearbook, but through it, memories of Life at Eastern can be awakened. The 1962 MILESTONE, by preserving some of these treasures within its pages and inside a permanent cover, tells us in one word that Life is . . . TRANSITION.

"I went to the woods because I wished to live deliberately, to front only the essential facts of life, and see if I could not learn what it had to teach."

—Henry David Thoreau

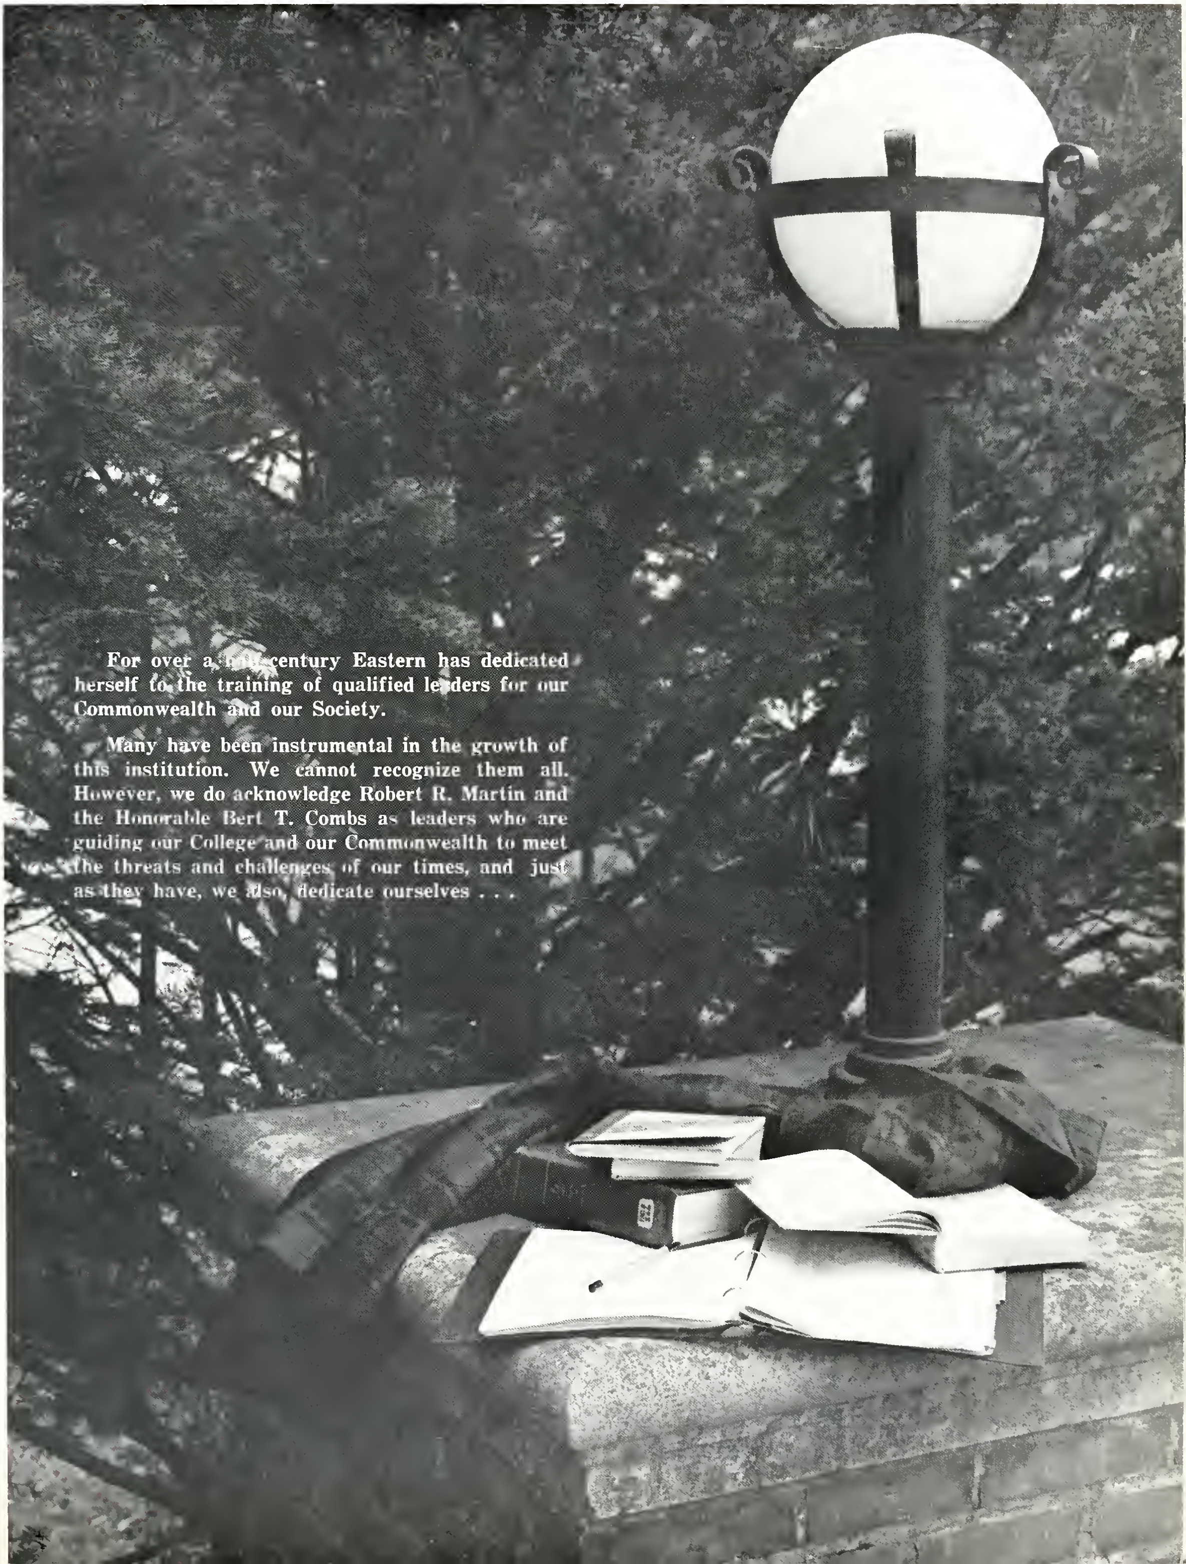
Some changes we never notice . . . others are called to our attention by some memorable events, such as the visits to Eastern's campus by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson . . . and . . .

General Carlos P. Romulo, Ambassador from the Philippines.



For over a half-century Eastern has dedicated herself to the training of qualified leaders for our Commonwealth and our Society.

Many have been instrumental in the growth of this institution. We cannot recognize them all. However, we do acknowledge Robert R. Martin and the Honorable Bert T. Combs as leaders who are guiding our College and our Commonwealth to meet the threats and challenges of our times, and just as they have, we also, dedicate ourselves . . .

IN THE FALL . . .

The rush began September 10, 1961. By the end of the week, 4,200 students had arrived on campus to join Eastern's family circle. They had journeyed from every corner of Kentucky and from many other states as well. The customs and mores they brought with them made them differ in respects, but immediately they began growing toward a common goal—graduation from Eastern.

The campus was filled with students of all classifications, but those with the most eager, yet puzzled, faces were the freshmen. This was their week to become oriented to life at Eastern and this was a week they will remember.

The First Tasks Were Unloading . . .

and preparing to move into that strange room that soon would be as familiar as the one back home.

After the confusion of converting to dorm life had ceased, the students began orientation. They listened in awe as they were given a description of Freshman week festivities.

. . . Many New Acquaintances Were Made

As the Freshmen attended their first college reception, they were greeted by the faculty.

The excitement of the freshmen remained alive all through their special week. Each day brought new thrills and each thrill enhanced their successful adjustment to this new life.

The students turned to less formal entertainment as they enjoyed a street dance in the Science Building parking lot.

By the evening of the sock hop, many lasting friendships had already begun taking form.

Registration Climaxed The First Week

The freshmen learned what the upperclassmen meant when they said, "Today will be spent waiting in line."

Students took a break during registration by enjoying cokes provided by Richmond's merchants.

Student number 4,110 registering for classes was President Martin, being enrolled by registrar, Mr. Mattox.

. . . Eastern Was The Scene Of Continued

Physical

The cost of Eastern's physical expansion this year was estimated at $15,000,000. This growth consisted of constructing the new and renovating the old. The students' pride in the new buildings is rivaled only by their esteem for the traditional ones made new.

The Donovan Building neared construction as back-to-school days approached.

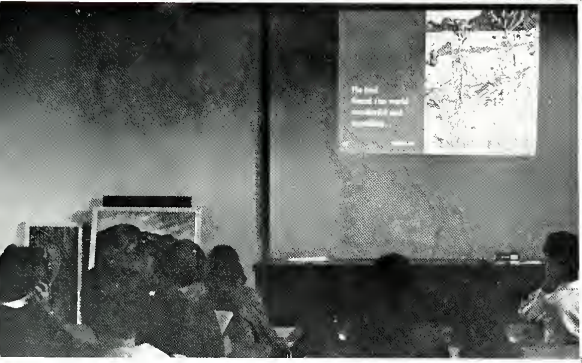
President Martin, Governor Combs, and H. L. Donovan joined in dedicating the new laboratory school.

Additional apartments for the married couples were erected in Brockton.

Growth

Learn by doing . . . these girls are practicing this educational axiom.

TEMPERA POSTER COLORS



Through lectures, the professors share their knowledge and skills with their students.

The audio-visual method of education brings variety and stimulation to the students.

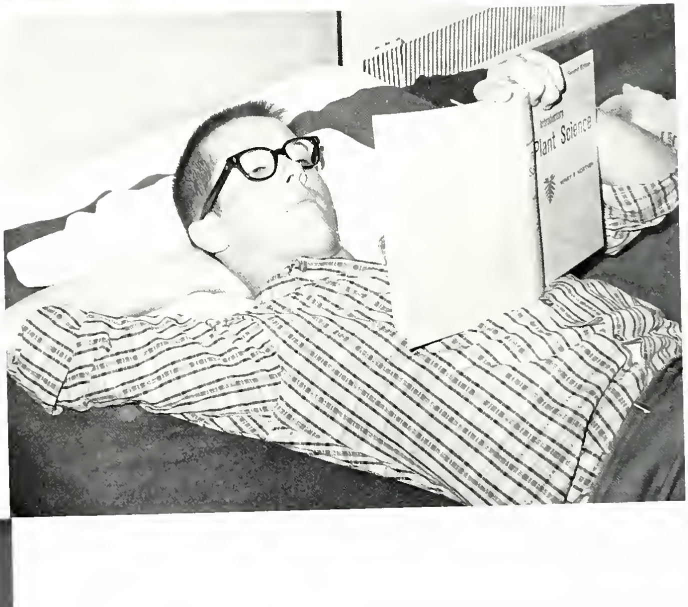
Mental

The students' mental growth is encouraged by films, lectures, and laboratory experience. By studying the arts and the sciences, Eastern students grow in their appreciation of beauty and their accumulation of facts. The thoroughness of a well-planned curriculum insures success and happiness to the future graduate.

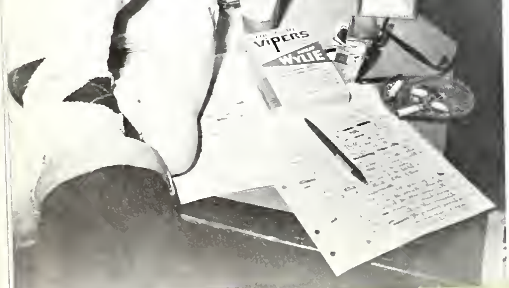
. . . Essential Elements Are Study

As term paper time draws near, students use library facilities.

Many hours are spent in concentrated study . . .



. . . and preparation.



The various methods of studying . . . and the various locations . . . the chief occupation of students requires many pensive hours. But these are profitable, only if relief is sought through . . .

. . . And Recreation

"The pause that refreshes" is always welcomed.

Leisure time is often spent having a snack with a friend in the grill.

A game of cards is a relaxing pastime.

POTATO CHIPS

. . . a well-planned time budget. Recreation and relaxation come in varieties of methods and locations, also. The carefree moments clear the mind for the serious hours of study.

Football is King . . .

A bone-jarring tackle draws the attention of the audience packed in Hanger Stadium.

Students show enthusiasm as they decorate goal posts for the first home game.

Thirty-nine high school bands participated in half-time ceremonies at Eastern's first Band Day.

. . . And Homecoming The Main Event

Homecoming queen candidates were presented at the annual Alumni Dance.

Susan Stout and Danny Blackburn rode on the Kappa Pi float which won first prize for beauty.

Students viewed the Disciples Student Fellowship float which won the first prize for originality.

The enthusiasm of homecoming was conceived in the minds of students as early as the first week of classes. The enthusiasm gathered momentum as that last week before the big game arrived. The students devoted their free hours to building floats and planning the festivities. This was the work and the week they loved. The enthusiasm was culminated and released in one afternoon as the students watched the team battle its opponent in the climaxing game.

. . . With 1961's Being Eastern's Largest.

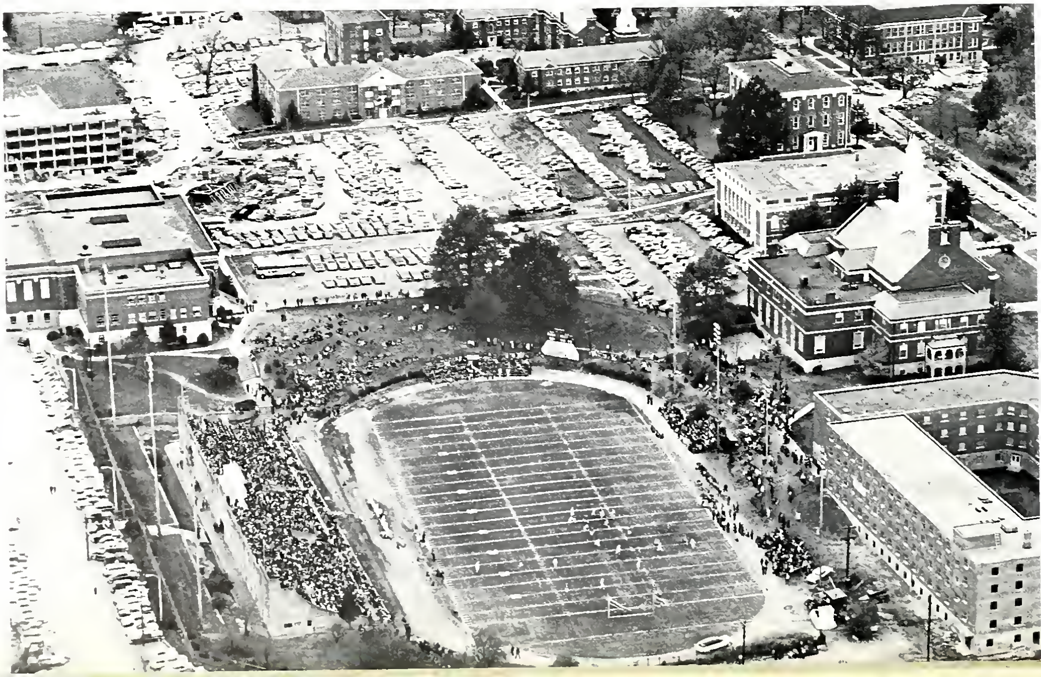
Burnam Hall received the award for the best decorated dormitory as Colonel Eastern defeated Colonel Western in a traditional duel of "The Old South."

An estimated crowd of over 7,000 gathered on Eastern's campus for the homecoming game.



November brought . . .

The week of turnabout is ended with a frolicsome dance.

. . . The Turkey Chase

The proud winner of the cross-country run clutches his prize which, naturally, was a turkey.

Drama Presentations

The Little Theatre Club provided the opportunity for would-be actors to develop their stage ability and the experience of working in every phase of the theatre—acting, directing, staging, and producing. In addition to producing several one-act plays this year, the LTC helped to conduct the Regional High School Drama Festival, held on campus in February, during which fourteen high schools presented thirty-minute, one-act plays.

James Whaley is the villain, Charlene Roe, the accomplice, and Rita Spurlin, the doomed, in this scene from "The Lesson."

The Madison Central drama group presented Robert Frost's "Death of the Hired Man."

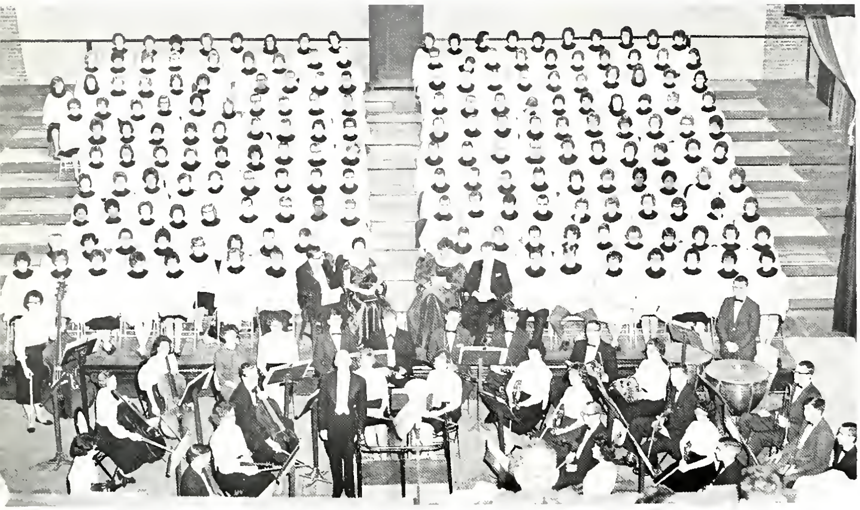
One of the superior winners of the drama festival was the cast of Lafayette High School, with their presentation of "Who is Sally?"

IN THE WINTER

Eastern's snow-covered campus provides the beauty and intrigue of silhouettes. During the day, it is a picture with brilliant colors and bustling subjects. As evening approaches, the colors become subdued and the subjects modify their pace. And as the dark night arrives, stillness does also.

The silence is broken occasionally by the traditional chimes of the tower clock and the silhouette in black and white is interrupted from time to time by a girl and a boy as they linger for a moment under the beams of a streetlight.

Christmas Brought Serenity . . .



The presentation of Handel's "Messiah" by the powerful 225-voice chorus gave students an opportunity to participate in one of the most impressive traditions of Eastern.

The spiritual celebration of Christmas is not neglected at Eastern. It is reflected in such events as the singing of the "Messiah," the Freshman Women's Dinner, and the Hanging of the Greens. These are among the many activities during the holiday season that provide the students an opportunity to participate in the celebration of the sacred anniversary.

The largest attendance in history enjoyed the Freshman Women's Dinner during Eastern's Christmas week festivities.

The Hanging of the Greens manifested the dignity and serenity characteristic of the Christmas celebration.

And Gaiety

The Anniversary Ball was a gala event of the Christmas season. It celebrated President Martin's first year at Eastern. The grandeur of the ball was enhanced by exciting music, colorful gowns, and a crowded dance floor. Ralph Marterie's performance marked the second consecutive year that a nationally-famous orchestra was brought to the campus at the college's expense.

Snow Play . . .

Whether it's the constructive art of building a snowman or the frantic game of snowball fighting, all agree winter means great fun at Eastern. And while the ground is still frosted with white, what better way is there to bring the fun indoors than with . . .

He's big and strong today, but tomorrow . . .?

Ready, aim . . .

Whoops . . . another casualty

. . . And Ball

The dancers enjoy small talk while the band takes a break.

The dancers sway to the melody of a slow number.

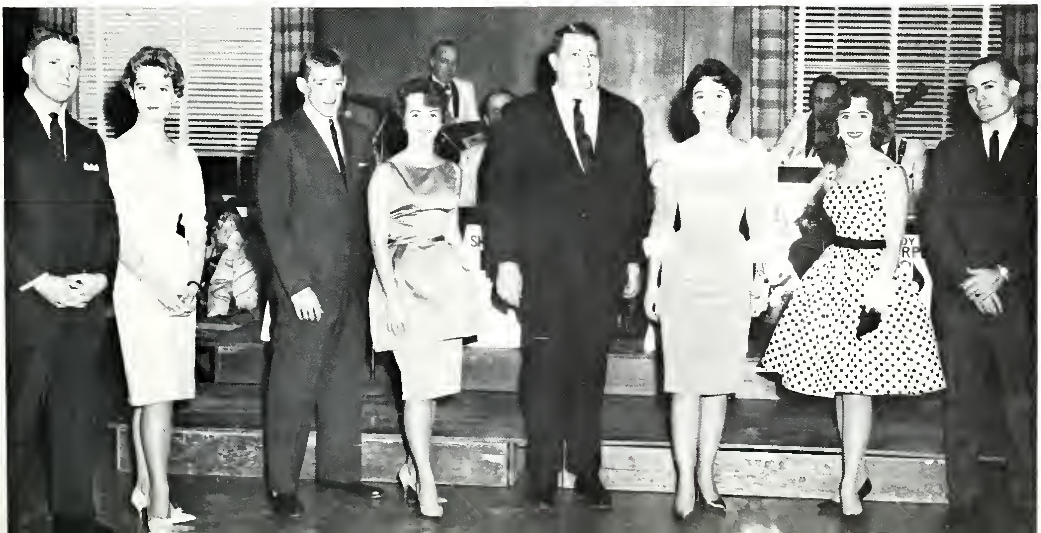
President Martin poses with the Snowball Court Jon Draud, Connie Mullins, Bill Goedde, Sandy Hoff, Queen Judith Allen, Jeanne Sanders, and Charles McComas.



A Campus Date . . .

The telephone rings and heads bob out of every door. Then a name resounds through the hall and a face lights up. In moments, a date is made.

Dating on the campus takes many forms—serious study in the library, hearty exercises at the bowling alley, a late snack or soda at Jerry's, or a sauntering walk around campus, all of which is climaxed by farewells at the women's dormitories. Sharing these with someone special makes them more fun and less routine, as Jamie and Beth share a date with us.

First things first—the date begins by studying in the library.

They're ready for an evening of competition. But chances are she'll manage to let him win.

A cool way to end an evening—sharing a frosty coke.

The perfect date is crowned with a kiss—the sweetest way to say goodnight.

The New Semester Brought . . .

The process of registering had to be repeated in mid-winter. Many new faces appeared but some old ones were missing. New activities also appeared—the Bloodmobile came to campus for its first visit, "Hell Week" introduced the semester with laughter and fun, the Valentine Dance was held, spring honors programs were planned, and work on McGregor Hall was begun. Routine had been interrupted and tension released.

Registration . . .

Their registration preliminaries completed, students rush to enroll in classes that are probably already filled.

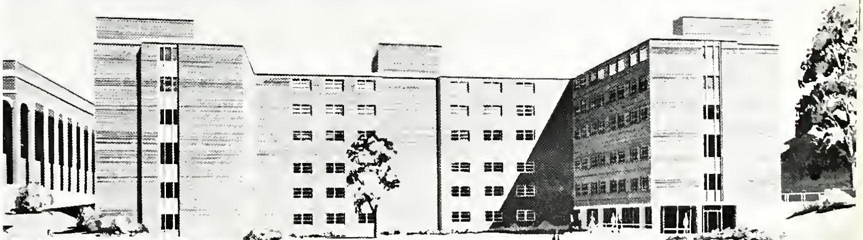
McGregor Hall . . .



Work was begun on six-story McGregor Hall in February.

In Oscar's Den . . .

familiar faces pick up the card game they dropped last semester.

But Dorm Life Continues . . .

Although a new semester brings new classes, new teachers, and new friends, the student can find security in the familiar faces of his friends in the dorm, for here life remains the same. Lessons still have to be studied; clothes have to be washed, and bridge games still must be played. However, the mundane is always interrupted by the unexpected—and this is the fun of living in a dorm.

Don't forget this!

It looks as if there are more than four hands in this bridge game.

Some of them are studying, and then, some of them aren't.

"It's too bad I couldn't bring Mother along to do this."

Life in the dorm is always hectic—sharing the mirror on the night of a big dance, cramming three wardrobes into two closets, answering the phone when it's always for someone else, trying to sleep to the tune of a typewriter. But the reward is sufficient—companionship as it was never known before.

Oh, what girls must do to be beautiful!

Life Was Not Confined To The Campus . . .

Richmond, a friendly college town of about 13,000, provided Eastern students with simple, old-fashioned Southern hospitality. The students bought in its shops, ate in its restaurants, attended its theatres and worshipped in its churches. The merchants showed their appreciation by providing free refreshments during registration week in the fall and part-time work for many in its downtown shops. This historic Blue Grass community always remains close to the hearts of all graduates.

Shopping is a favorite Saturday afternoon pastime for Sally Meadors and Anna Grace Combs.

Basketball Provided Many Memories . . .

The basketball season was marked by a triple disappointment—the breaking of the home floor winning streak, the home floor loss to Western, and the resignation of Coach McBrayer. But the season had its bright moments, too, as the team recorded important victories under the leadership of a new coach.

Students live every minute of the games as determination and enthusiasm spread throughout the stands.

On each game night, the ID cards flashed continually.

Eastern Attracted Prominent Lecturers

Featured at one of the Community Concerts held during the year in Brock Auditorium was the San Francisco Operatic Quartet.

The assembly programs and other college-sponsored functions were designed to entertain and instruct the student body. Presentations given by guests, faculty members, and students ranged from a folk song recital by John Jacob Niles to a lecture on astronomy by Harlow Shapley. Other programs on the agenda this year included concerts by Eastern's band, orchestra, and choir, and addresses by Stanley Kunitz, Jesse Stuart, Thruston Morton, and The Right Reverend Felix N. Pitt.

Dr. Lyman Ginger, Dean of U.K.'s College of Education, shakes hands with his next-door neighbor, Don Webb, a freshman from Lexington.

John Jacob Niles demonstrates his unusual instrument, the dulcimer.

And Entertainers

Senator Thruston B. Morton greets Co-Captains of the Maroon basketball team, Larry Parks and Ray Gardner, following an assembly address.

The Pantomime University Band kept their audience howling with laughter.

Noted Kentucky author, Jesse Stuart, returned to Eastern's campus as a guest speaker twenty-seven years after he gave his first college lecture here.

Dr. Harlow Shapley, an eminent astronomer, lectured on a subject of particular interest to science majors.

Canine About Campus

The canine-about-campus at Eastern . . . the most popular and most versatile . . . he's rather slow, but never late . . . he's rather old, but never out of date . . . he attends classes regularly, marches with the band, and has a special seat on the stage during movies. He's our "Mo."

To the graduates, June 1, 1961, meant the end of one life and the beginning of another. On this one day all the memories of the past and all the hopes of the future are blurred by the confusion of the moment.

There Were Many Activities

The twenty-sixth season of the Stephen Foster Music Camp attracted high school students from sixteen states.

Board of Regents

Wendell P. Butler, a Frankfort resident, is State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Ex-Officio Chairman of the Board of Regents.

The Board of Regents, the governing body of the college, is headed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The group is comprised of outstanding men in the Commonwealth, duly appointed by the Governor.

The function of the Board of Regents is to meet quarterly and to deal with matters on every phase of administration.

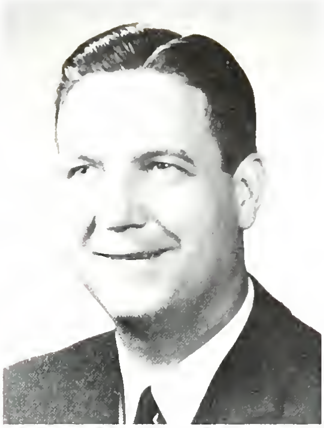
Governor Combs joins Superintendent Butler in laying the cornerstone of the new Donovan Building.

Earle B. Combs, Sr., insurance executive, is a former Eastern student and major league baseball star, who resides in Richmond.

F. L. Dupree is a businessman from Harlan.



H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., a graduate of Eastern, is a Prestonburg banker.

Robert B. Hensley is a Louisville attorney.

Thomas B. McGregor, a former Circuit Judge, is now a Frankfort attorney.

Dr. Russell I. Todd resides in Richmond, where he practices dentistry.

Mr. Spears Turley, a resident of Richmond, serves as Treasurer of the Board.

Miss Lois Colley, secretary to the President, serves as Secretary of the Board.

Eastern has been fortunate throughout its history to have outstanding men of wisdom and forethought to serve on the Board of Regents. The present Board, like others, encourages full speed ahead on the many projects of Eastern in order to help Eastern grow in size and quality.

Robert R. Martin
President

The President

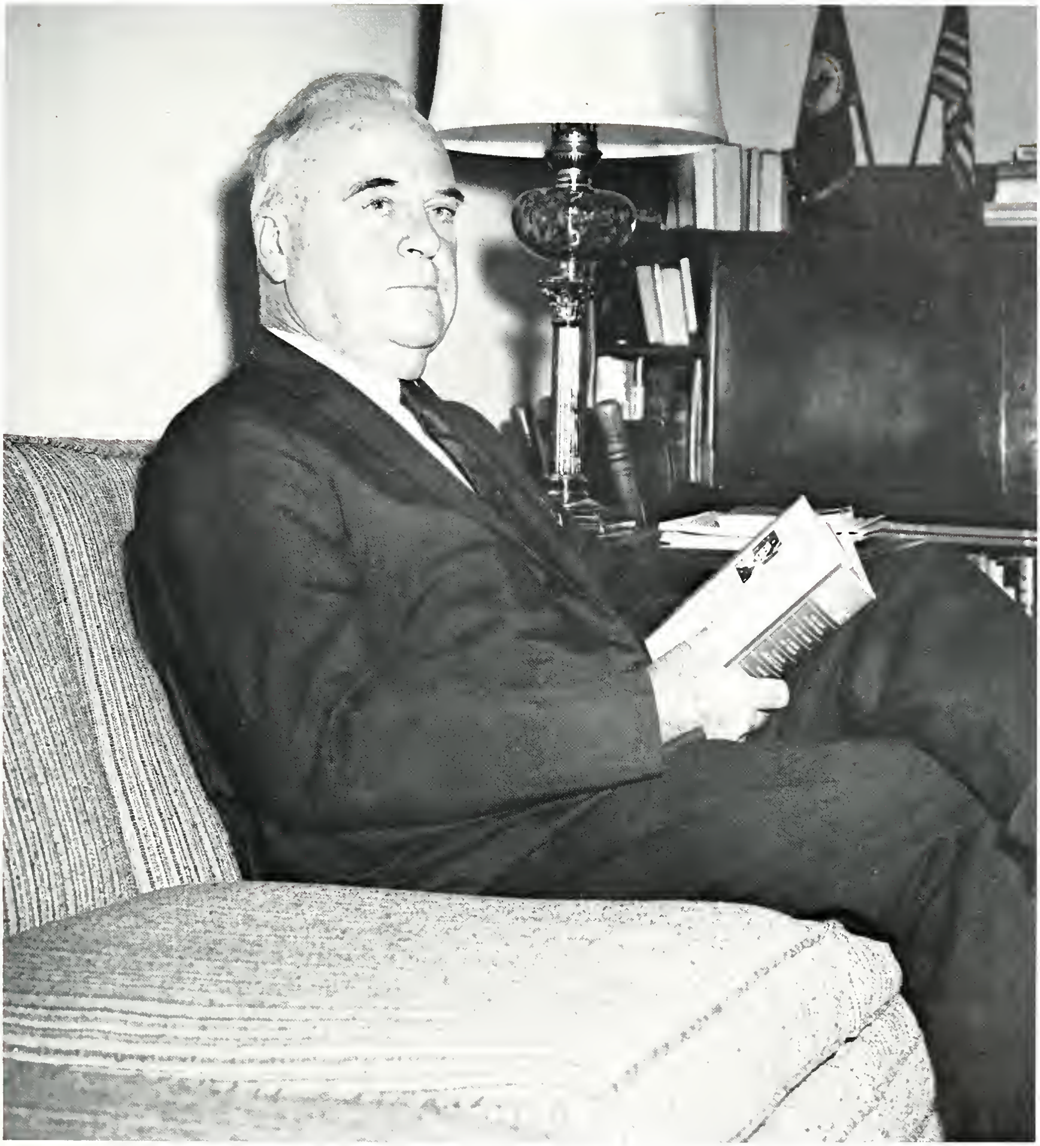
One of the outstanding contributors to educational progress in Kentucky's history, Robert R. Martin became the first alumnus to head Eastern, when he assumed the responsibilities as the sixth president on July 1, 1960.

Formerly the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Commissioner of Finance of the Commonwealth, the dynamic chief administrator has directed a tremendous expansion program that includes great physical, as well as academic growth, with an expanded curriculum and an enlarged, well-qualified faculty.

Recipient of Eastern's first "Outstanding Alumnus Award" in 1956, President Martin was a leader in the drafting of the Foundation Program for Education Law and worked for its enactment at the General Assembly. As Superintendent of Public Instruction, he implemented the law and as Commissioner of Finance, he supervised the preparation of the Executive Budget, which provided for the highest level of financial support for education in the state's history.

Harry "King" Lowman, Speaker of the House of Representatives, presents President Martin the key to the city of Ashland.

President Martin and the First Lady pose for the Milestone photographer beside the beautiful fireplace in the main reception room of the Blanton House.



W. F. O'Donnell
President-Emeritus

President - Emeritus

During his nineteen years as president, Dr. W. F. O'Donnell saw Eastern grow from a college of 981 students in 1941, to an enrollment of 3,000 in 1960. Just prior to his retirement, he began a huge building program to take care of Eastern's rapidly growing population. Dr. O'Donnell continues to take an active interest in many campus activities and is still an inspiration to the college.

Dean of the Faculty

Directing Eastern's academic growth is the Dean of the Faculty and two associate deans of instruction. This newly reorganized academic structure is in its first full year of operation. Responsible to the Dean of the Faculty are the Associate Dean of Instruction for Teacher Education and the Associate Dean of Instruction for Graduate Studies.

DEAN OF THE FACULTY, Dr. William J. Moore, has served Eastern since 1928. His interest in the college, its faculty and students, has been invaluable as Eastern has grown in quality, as well as in quantity. Dean Moore's sense of humor and friendliness is a great asset that aids him in solving scores of problems each year.

ASSOCIATE DEAN OF INSTRUCTION FOR TEACHER EDUCATION, Dr. J. Dorland Coates, is responsible for the selection of students for teacher-education curricula. The son of Eastern's third president, he served as director of the training school program for eight years.

ASSOCIATE DEAN OF INSTRUCTION FOR GRADUATE STUDIES, Dr. Clyde L. Orr, supervises and advises all graduate students and certifies them for the Master's degree. He also serves as chairman of the Graduate Council. Dr. Orr came to Eastern this year from Ashland, where he served as director of the University of Kentucky Extension Center.

DIRECTOR OF IN-SERVICE EDUCATION, Mr. D. J. Carty, is in charge of correspondence and extension work. He serves also as head of the Placement Bureau.

Student Affairs

Heading the College student affairs program is the office of the Dean of Students, the official organization for establishing and regulating policies which pertain to student organizations on the campus, and maintaining over-all supervision of student personnel services and programs.

Dean of Students, Dr. Henry G. Martin, serves as coordinator for the various student programs, including the student welfare program. Closely associated with the Dean of Students' office is the office of the Dean of Women, where the over-all supervision of policies regarding the women students is administered by Mrs. Emma Y. Case. Mr. M. E. Mattox, Registrar, is responsible for admissions, registration, and the official instructional records and grades of each student.

DEAN OF STUDENTS, Dr. Henry G. Martin, is responsible for all student personnel services. His conscientiousness in supervision and counseling has gained him high esteem among the men students on campus.

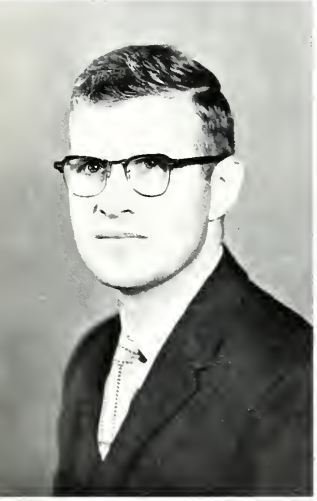
REGISTRAR, M. E. Mattox, will complete thirty-eight years of service to Eastern in June, at which time he will retire. He is never too busy to give time to the many students seeking his advice. His loyalty to Eastern has been appreciated by most of its presidents and his service has been instrumental in the College's great growth. In retirement, he will continue to be an inspiration to Eastern and its happy family.

DEAN OF WOMEN, Mrs. Emma Y. Case, who has been a "mother" to thousands of Eastern coeds since 1925, will complete thirty-seven years of outstanding service in June, when she retires. The beloved dean of women has offered guidance and advice to both men and women students, and has devoted her years to helping Eastern's students become better citizens. Eastern will miss Dean Case, but will never forget her.

Business Officers

Those functions of the College program that are of a business or financial nature are organized under and executed by the Business Department. The department is headed by a Business Agent who is directly responsible to the President. Phases of the business activity include purchasing, receiving, disbursement, accountability, and maintenance and operation of plants. The department was established for the purpose of providing the services, facilities, and equipment necessary for the academic program of Eastern to be carried on.

BUSINESS AGENT, Mr. G. M. Brock, is responsible for all financial functions and records of the College and serves as Director of Purchasing and Stores. He has served Eastern since 1918.



DIRECTOR OF BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS, Mr. Ralph Conlee, is responsible for the maintenance and upkeep of the beautiful Eastern campus.

DIRECTOR OF ACCOUNTING AND BUDGETARY CONTROL, Mr. William E. Smith, Jr., is responsible for the collection, disbursement, and accounting of all funds of the College, and participates in compilation of the budget.

DIRECTOR OF AUXILIARY ENTERPRISES AND SERVICES, Mr. James O. King, is in charge of the business aspects of those enterprises involving housing, food, bookstore, and concessions, as well as serving in advisory capacities in the College administration.

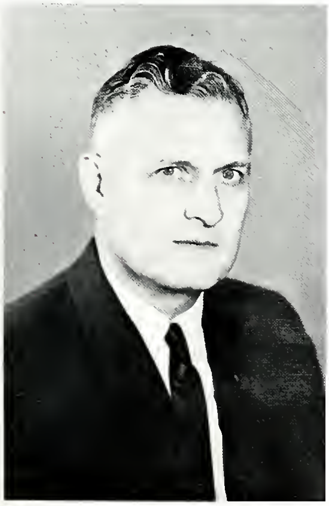
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS, Mr. Larry Martin, assists Mr. Conlee and is especially concerned with the beautification of the campus.

College Developement

The College Development program of Eastern is responsible for various means of communications between the College and the public. Telling the story of Eastern through mass communications is the direct responsibility of the Division of Publicity and Publications. The College-Community Relations Director is responsible for recruiting and bringing groups to the campus, and the Director of Alumni Affairs responsible for liaison between the College and its alumni. Coordinator of the program is the executive administrative assistant to the President.

EXECUTIVE ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT, Mr. J. C. Powell, works closely with the President in all administrative matters, and serves as coordinator of the College Development program. He had formerly served as Director of the Division of Records and Reports for the State Department of Education before coming to Eastern. Mr. Powell is the unheralded administrator who follows through with many of the College's important projects in the expansion program presently in progress.

DIRECTOR OF COLLEGE-COMMUNITY RELATIONS, Mr. John L. Vickers, is active in bringing groups of prospective students and professional persons to the Eastern campus. He is constantly on the road in helping to tell the Eastern story to the public.



DIRECTOR OF PUBLICITY AND PUBLICATIONS, Mr. Donald R. Feltner, is responsible for all mass communications through publicity and publications. He maintains a general supervision of the student publications of the College, the Progress and the Milestone.

DIRECTOR OF ALUMNI AFFAIRS, Mr. Clarence D. Harmon, completed his first year at this new position at Eastern. He has been active in forming alumni groups throughout Kentucky and in strengthening the Alumni Association.

FACULTY

Agriculture

The place of agriculture in our modern society has made scientific farming methods necessary. The young man who wishes to be a successful farmer needs a solid background of facts and theories as well as actual practical application.

The purpose of the Agriculture Department is to provide this training and to prepare vocational agriculture teachers. Eastern offers a two year program of curriculum leading to the degree in Agriculture at the University of Kentucky.

LIVE LONGER

Home Economics

The primary purpose of the Home Economics program is to train young women to become well-informed and efficient homemakers. In addition to preparing young women for their roles as wives and mothers, the Home Economics Department provides curriculum for a non-professional degree, which trains the individual to pursue her special interests, whether they be as home demonstration agents, dietitians, or consumer guides, and for a professional degree that prepares her for the teaching profession.

Chemistry

The basic component to the material progress that Americans value so highly is the field of chemistry. The Department of Chemistry functions to give to the student professional training and to provide a knowledge of the complexity of the objects and processes which surround the individual.

A high percentage of Eastern's graduates are admitted to medical and dental schools each year.

Physics

Physics serves the modern world in many ways. By the tools of physics the phenomena of light, electricity, heat, sound, and mechanics are examined and shown in their interrelations. Besides its practical, professional slant, the Physics Department is an interpreter of the student's physical surroundings.

Commerce

Because of the expansion in national and world economy, business is one of the most important segments of our society. From the smallest monetary transaction to the most complex corporate operation, business principles and practices are present, for they provide the foundation for further expansion and development. Eastern offers curriculum leading to degrees in accounting, secretarial practice, and general business.

Art

Fredrick P. Giles
Head, Department of Art

The new art library provides useful information for the art students.

The Art Department has a two-fold purpose of training young men and women to become public school teachers, while enriching the cultural development of the student body.

Housed in the newly renovated Cammack Building, the creativity of the student is challenged through the offering of a wider range of activities, which include the facilities of a new art library.

English

Communication is essential in the complex world in which we live. It is necessary that the individual learn to express his ideas effectively to those he meets. Thus, the English Department fulfills an important role in the college society, for here the masses of freshmen come with trained, and untrained, abilities to communicate. It is the Department's challenge to prepare them to think, write, and speak effectively.

In addition to this function, the Department trains well-qualified teachers and provides avenues for creativity through writing, debating, and dramatics.

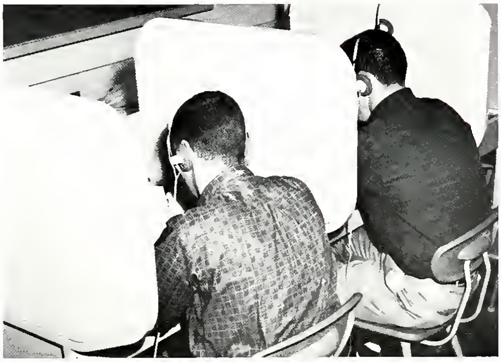
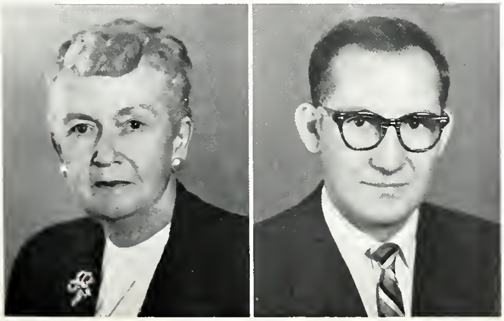
Foreign Languages



The Language Lab provides an opportunity for the interested student to gain fluency rapidly.

Janet Murbach
Head, Department of Foreign Languages

Bennie A. Padilla
Assistant Professor of Foreign Languages



Not only is the knowledge of one's own language necessary in our society, but the ability to communicate must extend beyond our own. The Foreign Language Department offers studies in French, Spanish, German, and Latin.

One of the greatest assets to the academic program is the new Foreign Language Laboratory. Here the student gains ability to speak the language fluently by listening to himself and correcting his errors.

Geography And Geology

Geography and Geology are a valuable part of any person's education. Today students leave school and enter a world which is interested and involved in local and world affairs. There is a need for broad and sympathetic understanding and judgment.

Offered to the students are courses in the principles of Geography, and in Regional and World Geography. Courses in Geology give to the student knowledge of the earth's elements, plants, and animals.

History Anthropology And Sociology

Due to the complexity of the society in which we live, it has become imperative that we understand the forces which have created and which sustain such a society. Eastern's History, Anthropology, and Sociology Department seeks to instill in each student an understanding of these forces. Anthropology impresses upon the student the science of civilization; History instructs him in the patterns of civilization; and, through Sociology, he sees the problems of people living in civilizations.

Education

Eastern's reputation as a teacher training institution has long been established. Even though the curriculum has been expanded to embrace other professional training, about seventy-five percent of Eastern's graduates still enter the educational profession. The Education Department serves to train young men and women to work in all phases of the school system. It trains teachers, supervisors, administrators, and guidance counselors who will direct the education of future generations.

Library Science

As part of Eastern's academic expansion, courses in library science were offered for the first time during the 1961 summer session. The student has an opportunity to learn the basic fundamentals of library science through studying school library management, classifications and cataloging, and references.

Housed in the John Grant Crabbe Library, the students find the 110,000 volume library an excellent laboratory for their work.

The Music Department provides a well-rounded curriculum that prepares its major students for both teaching and professional careers. It enriches the culture of the students by sponsoring concerts, adds to their enthusiasm by performances at athletic events, and fulfills their entertainment desires by providing an outstanding array of musical programs throughout the year. Among the most impressive projects sponsored by the Department is the annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah," at Christmastime.

The physical fitness of our citizens has been of great concern on both the national and local level. Military Science

The purpose of the Military Science program is the training of able-bodied men to become officers in the United States Army.

The ROTC program is sponsored by the college under the regulations and supervision of the U.S. Army. The Basic Course consists of compulsory two years' service, but this does not obligate the student to enter the Advanced Course. Successful completion of the four-year program, and a six-week summer training camp, qualifies the graduate to receive a commission as a second lieutenant in the United States Army Reserves or the Regular Army.

Laboratory School

"It is here that creative teaching will be done. In this building, young teachers will learn the art of teaching and they will go out from here to teach the youth of our state."

These were the words of Dr. Herman Lee Donovan, ex-president of Eastern and president-emeritus of the University of Kentucky, when he helped to break ground for the magnificent Donovan Building.

The Laboratory School plant, called by architects "one of the finest in the nation," and "a plant that will be modern 15 years from now," was occupied last fall by 425 children, ranging from kindergarten, the only one in the state associated with a college, through the twelfth grade.

The Donovan Building, a "showplace" that has attracted hundreds of visitors to the Eastern campus, is truly a "dream come true," in the words of President Donovan.

Laboratory School

The Laboratory School, housed in the modern Donovan Building, serves as an integral part of Eastern's teacher training program. Through actual classroom teaching, under the supervision of experienced teachers, student teachers are given the opportunity to put facts and theories into practice.

The opportunity is provided here for potential teachers to meet and solve educational situations which they will encounter in the actual practice of their profession.

The Dorris Museum contains scores of documents and ancient relics of historical interest.

LINCOLN HERALD
MARY LINCOLN

Dorris Museum

The Dorris Museum was named for its founder and curator, Jonathan Truman Dorris, who served as a member of the Eastern history faculty from 1926 until his retirement in 1953. Since he came here, his interest in the historical background of Madison County and Kentucky led to his collection of relics, papers, and other historic information. Upon retirement, he organized his collection into a museum which had been temporarily housed in the basement of the Science Building. It is presently located in the remodeled University Building. The museum is here because of the energy and foresight of one man . . . Dr. J. T. Dorris.

In Appreciation Of . . .

DR. SAUL HOUNCHELL, soft-spoken master of the English language, and of the literatures, retires from a dedicated teaching career that has extended over more than a half century. His service to education includes tours of duty as a rural teacher in Clay County, as a teacher and principal, and later president, at Oneida Institute, as a teacher at East Texas State Teachers College, and interrupted service at Eastern that began in 1933. He has served as associate professor, and later as professor, of English at Eastern, consecutively since 1946.

MRS. EMMA Y. CASE, Dean of Women, adviser, counselor, teacher, friend, and "mother" to the thousands of Eastern graduates, with whom she has been associated, leaves an active career that includes thirty-seven years of service to Eastern. Founder and guiding force behind many campus organizations and activities, including CWENS, Collegiate Pentacle, KIE, and OAKS, the honor societies, Dean Case, even in retirement, will still be an inspiration to Eastern and its students.

MR. M. E. MATTOX, Registrar, has devoted thirty-eight years to Eastern as the loyal keeper of the official academic records. Though kept busy by his many administrative responsibilities, he has managed without reservation to give counsel to any student seeking his aid. As he leaves Eastern, there will remain behind many memories, and a memorial of brick and mortar, Mattox Hall, to remind students for many years to come of his unselfish service.

Halls Of Learning

Pictured on these pages are the halls that provide the environment where the learning process is cultivated. Many are buildings that have served Eastern since its origin; others were completed only this year. Among the older buildings, many have been renovated.

The University Building, the oldest classroom building on campus, and the Cammack Building have been converted from model laboratory schools to college classroom buildings. The new Donovan Building, pictured elsewhere in this section, houses some college classes in addition to being the laboratory school for student teachers. A new fine arts building is on the drawing board, and new science labs in the Memorial Science Building were occupied this spring. Whether they be new or old, Eastern's classroom buildings accomplish the purpose for which they were built.

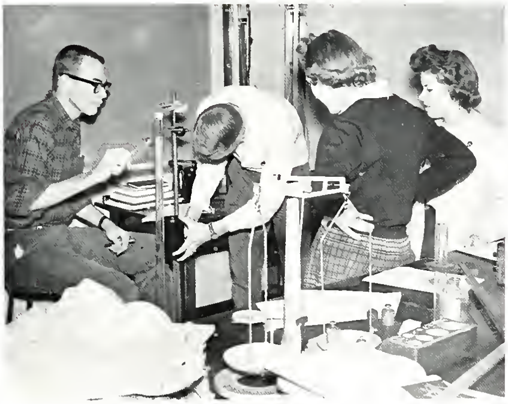
HOURS OF STUDY . . .



Students in physics class use a resonance apparatus to measure the velocity of sound in air.

Classes at Eastern are as many and varied as the people who attend them, and the avenues of learning lead to a liberal arts degree with emphasis on general education or professional specialization.

Some students study in their rooms while others prefer to study in the deserted classroom or the library. Some spend hours in preparation for each day's classes, while others wait until exam week and cram.

To supplement the classroom work, the library provides ample material for both faculty and students on the subjects of their choice.

. . . In Quest of Knowledge . . .

The student is aware of the importance of learning, and no matter where or how he studies, he benefits in some way from his stay at Eastern.

Language students find the new foreign language laboratory an aid in their learning to speak German, French, and Spanish.

Eastern's campus serves as a laboratory for biological science classes.

Lead to GRADUATION!

There are times when an occasional student dozes, as the daily routine becomes monotonous. There are times when it seems as if the week will never end, and the week end will never come, but after the fun is over, the good student is ready to meet the challenge of the new week and the task of preparing for what lies ahead—a transition from the world of college to the world that lies beyond.

A coed adjusts the mortarboard.

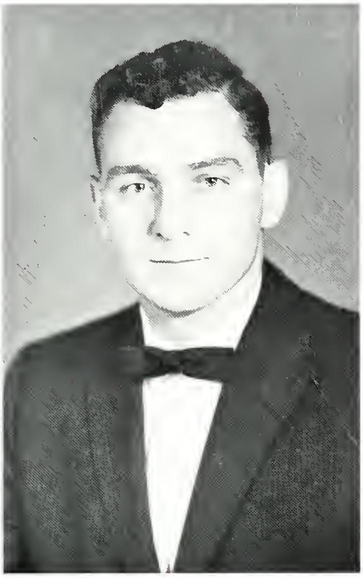
The 1962 MILESTONE Presents the First Senior Selected For THE HALL OF FAME

Mrs. Linda Lasater Gassaway

This is a new honor awarded to the senior student who has contributed most to Eastern Kentucky State College—as a student, as a citizen of the college community, as an active member of worthy campus organizations—to that person most typical of the ideal senior.

The selection was conducted in such a manner as to be entirely free from campus politics. A secret scholarship committee was appointed by the President to study applicants submitted by Collegiate Pentacle and Omicron Alpha Kappa, women's and men's senior honorary societies. Meeting on three different occasions, the committee studied the records closely of the persons nominated and made this announcement: "The Scholarship Committee is happy to name Mrs. Linda Gassaway to be the first senior to be admitted to the Hall of Fame. The Committee believes this is a fine way to recognize scholarship and that the Hall of Fame people will continue to bring honor to Eastern in the years ahead."

HONOR ROLL



W. A. BROADDUS
Applied Arts and Sciences

At the beginning of the 1961-62 school year, the Student Board of Publications approved a recommendation by the editors of the MILESTONE that a part of the Honors section of the yearbook be devoted to honoring those seniors who had excelled academically in their chosen field. These students were selected by the then, heads of the eight divisions of the college and were judged on the following criteria. The person must have a first major within the division and must have the highest over-all standing based on the sophomore and junior years of college. On these pages we present the 1962 Honor Roll of Seniors.

STUDENT GOVERNING COUNCILS

Student Council

The Student Council was formed to foster worthy traditions, encourage high ideals of conduct, promote a richer cultural experience, secure within our institution unity, cooperation, and mutual understanding and respect, and provide a greater opportunity for the practice of democratic principles.

Major activities of the Student Council this year included governing student behavior at social events sponsored by the college, publication of council meeting's minutes for distribution to students, sponsoring a radio program, "The Voice of Eastern," and continued work toward a better constitution and a successful judiciary court.

PHIL BRYAN
Vice President

JAMES SHOWALTER
President

BILL ALLISON
Treasurer

ANN STANLEY JOHNSON
Secretary

Dr. Clyde J. Lewis, adviser, aids the student council in its work through his support and counseling.

The student council serves Eastern students through social as well as governing activities. A big success in student council activities was the free dance during homecoming week.

Jim Werk and a pretty friend show their enjoyment as they dance to the swinging music of Charlie Bishop.

Class Representatives

Caduceus Club

Caduceus Club is a club which fastens relationships between students in the allied medical arts. An interest in the medical arts and a 1.75 over-all standing are necessary for membership. Various representatives of fields and schools of medical arts are asked to speak to the club in the course of the year.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club was organized by Ruth Dix in 1931 to create a closer relationship among its members and the Department. For membership one must be a home economics major or minor and take an active part in the club.

The Eastern Symphony Orchestra

Dr. Robert Oppelt does a very fine job in conducting the Eastern Symphony Orchestra.

The Eastern Symphony Orchestra is one of the most outstanding organizations to represent Eastern. Much is added to the culture of Eastern students through the many concerts performed by the symphony orchestra.

PUBLICATIONS

Belles Lettres

BELLES LETTRES is a student publication sponsored by the Canterbury Club. It is published once each year to give deserving student authors an opportunity to present their own composition to the public. As a publication of student writers, BELLES LETTRES rates very highly at many colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Editor Suzanne Hale and Assistant Editor Carole Veach proofread a short story for BELLE LETTRES.

Dr. Byno Rhodes, Faculty Advisor to BELLE LETTRES, assists in the preparation and publication.

Circulation Manager Mary Ann Lackey prepares for the distribution of BELLE LETTRES.

Student Publications Board

Mr. Don Feltner, Director of Publicity and Publications, serves as adviser and friend to all Publication Staffs at Eastern.

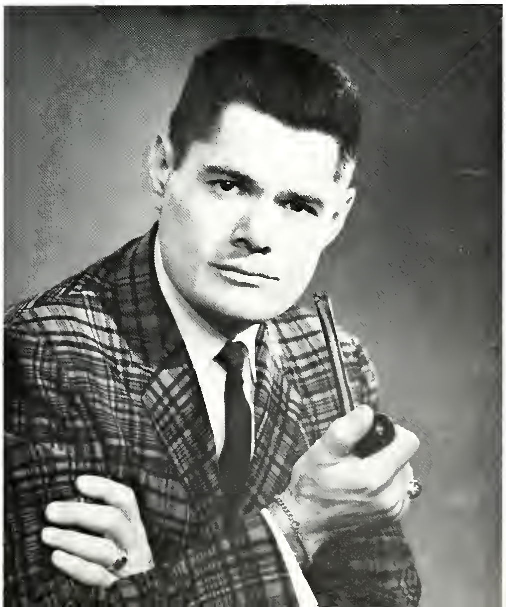
The Student Publications Board is a governing body, composed of editors of the EASTERN PROGRESS and the MILESTONE, the president of the Student Council, and members of the College administration. The Board acts as an advisory agency to help these student publications serve the College and its community.

The success of the student publications depends upon many factors. Without the capable direction of Mr. Don Feltner, and the wide photo-coverage under the direction of Mr. George Lyon, the publications could not be the successes they are. It is essential that these publications represent Eastern with dignity, and with this in mind, the staffs carry out their work.

School photographers, Jeff Miller, Chester Buchanan, and Tom Coffey, provide excellent coverage of all college events.

Mr. Daniel C. Webster was responsible for many of the photographs in the 1962 MILESTONE. He supervised, trained, and offered professional advice to his student staff.

Joining the Publicity Department in January, Mr. George Lyon has set up an effective photography program. Under his supervision, the student photographers provide the photographs for both the MILESTONE and PROGRESS.



MILESTONE

The 1962 MILESTONE began a new era in yearbooks at Eastern. An increase in size was not the only improvement made in the yearbook. This year's staff worked diligently to make this one the biggest success in the history of Eastern. Long hours of hard work and learning through doing have been the normal rather than the unusual.

Co-editors Linda Gassaway and Carol Caldwell worked with enthusiasm as they directed the sub-editors in their tasks during the year. Their tireless effort and inspiration served to guide the staff through the meeting of deadlines during the year of preparation.

Jim Montgomery, business manager, directs the business affairs of the MILESTONE. His ultimate aim is to make the MILESTONE a financial success as well as a success in the minds of the students. The business manager's job extends long after the last picture is taken and the last line of copy is written.

Maroons Three Plays, 14 Points Shy of Coach Glenn Presnell's young Maroons, picked for a sixth place finish in the seven-team Ohio Valley Conference, compiled a surprising 4-5 season record and finished fourth in the closely-contested league, only three plays (literally) from the championship.

The fourth place finish does not indicate the closeness of the race as the Maroons dropped their three conference games by a total of 14 points, on three plays, and they shattered eight modern school records, and tied another, as they enjoyed their most successful season since 1957.

A last-minute 22-15 loss to Middle Tennessee, a missed two-point conversion that cost them a 16-15 decision to Western Kentucky, and a 95-yard return of an opening kick-off by champion Tennessee Tech, in which Eastern lost 14-8, spelled the difference in an exciting season.

Three seniors ended their college careers, quarterback Tony Lanham, guard Don MacDonald, and tackle David Hatfield. Lanham broke five Eastern passing records, Hatfield established himself as a top pro prospect and was named to the second team All-OVC, and MacDonald ended a story book career by making the all-conference first team and being elected honorary captain of the Maroon squad, the most valuable lineman, the best defensive lineman, and the best blocker.

Many new faces appeared on the scene and made outstanding reputations that will be respected for the next two or three seasons. The young Maroons, labeled "The Iron Men," because of their inadequate depth for most of the season, gave football a new meaning once again on the campus.

The Maroons gather in a pre-game huddle before their crucial OVC victory over Murray.

The Louisville Cardinals, utilizing a versatile offensive attack and a tight defense, overpowered the young Maroons 33-6 in their opener at Hanger Stadium.

After a second period touchdown by George Lee had brought them within one touchdown, 14-6, the big Cards took advantage of their size and depth and controlled the ball throughout most of the second half.

Fired by an 86-yard punt return in the closing moments of the first half that gave them a 7-7 tie, the Maroons held on for their first OVC victory over a favored Murray team at Murray's Cutchin Stadium. Even a driving rainstorm that hit the Western Kentucky stadium in the second half could not put out the Eastern fire as the Maroons knocked the Racers out of a tie for the loop lead.

Tackle Dave Hatfield booted both conversions for Eastern and this proved the difference in the hard-fought contest as the Maroons won 14-13.

Chittum Sparks Upset Win Over Murray After Opening Loss to Louisville

Jimmy Chittum is off on his "believe-it-or-not" touchdown run against Middle Tennessee. He is shown being hit by two would-be tacklers, with three others coming in for the "kill."

"E" Splits With Middle and East Tenn.

The upset-minded Maroons paid little attention to the press notices of Middle Tennessee and came within less than two minutes of pulling the biggest upset of the year. A pair of rangy Vol ends, George Dykes and Frank Halliburton, out-reached Eastern's defensive backs on several occasions, the latter catch coming with 1:51 remaining to score the winning touchdown in a come-from-behind 22-15 Blue Raider victory.

Again, Chittum provided a lot of excitement as he thrilled a Hanger Stadium crowd that included 2,700 high school band members on hand for the first annual High School Band Day. The Maroons' first touchdown came on a beautiful 60-yard burst off tackle that saw Chittum elude three tacklers to go the distance. The Maroons overcame a later 14-7 deficit to go ahead 15-14, but Halliburton's great catch on the goal line pulled the game out of the fire for the Tennesseans.

Eastern treated East Tennessee rudely in their Golden Anniversary Homecoming, winning 22-13 in a game that saw "that man, Chittum," and Tony Lanham spark the Maroons to their second league win.

The Maroons broke a 7-7 deadlock in the third period and were never threatened thereafter. Chittum tallied two of the three touchdowns.

Middle Tennessee halfback Jim Nabors makes like a bird as he is hit by Eastern fullback Tom Stapleton. Bill Elkins (No. 80) comes in to help.

Hatfield splits the uprights with a 31-yard field goal that gave the Maroons a short-lived 9-7 lead over the Western Hilltoppers.

Eastern Loses 16 - 15 To Western

The Maroons, still in the thick of the OVC race, tuned up for their big Homecoming game with Western by striking three times in the first period, then holding on for a 21-7 win over visiting Austin Peay's Governors.

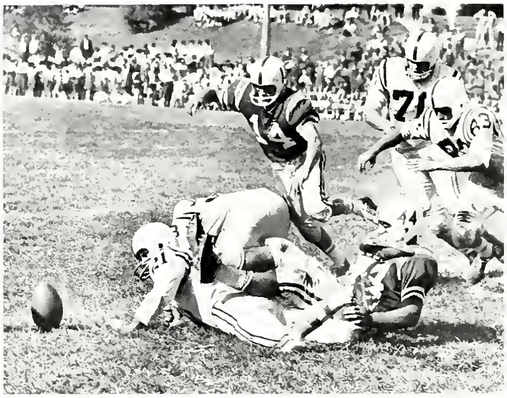
Two sophomore halfbacks, Bill Goedde, and Chittum (again), racked up the Maroons' touchdowns. Goedde tallied the first two markers, one on a two yard plunge, the second on a 35-yard pass from Lanham. The Governors scored in the final period.

The game was a Dad's Day and Military Day attraction.

Gambling Eastern, desperate to present about 7,000 Homecoming fans with a victory over arch-rival Western, failed on a two-point conversion attempt in the fourth period and the Hilltoppers escaped with a 16-15 triumph.

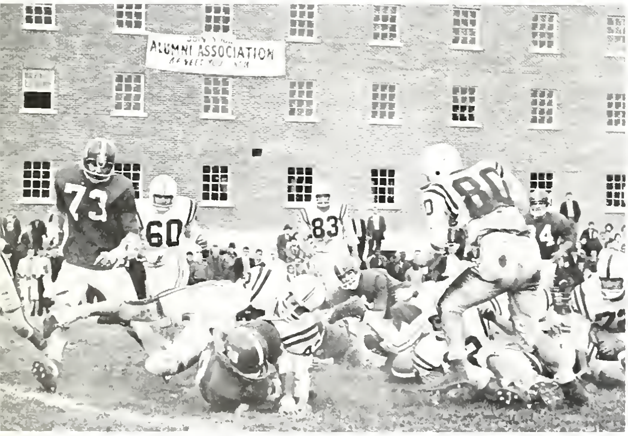
Chittum scored the touchdown that brought the Maroons within one point of the winners, but Lanham's pass on a try for a two-pointer was batted down in the end zone.

Sam Clark, late in the first half, gave the Hilltoppers a 10-9 half-time lead with a 23-yard field goal, after Dave Hatfield had booted a 31 yarder. Bill Booker ended Western's scoring on a 20-yard burst after the toppers recovered an Eastern fumble.



The loose football does a balancing act in this action during the Middle Tennessee game. Larry McKenzie is nearest the ball and Ed Spenik (83) and Dave Hatfield (71) try to outrun an opponent for the valuable pigskin.

The Alumni Association campaigned for members, the Maroons for points, as the record turnout of about 7,000 saw Eastern go down at the hands of Western 16-15. Bill Goedde is shown nailing Western's Billy Booker, with Ken Goodhew (60) and Bill Elkins (80) prepared to assist.



Bill Elkins reaches out to snag a pass from Tony Lanham in the 21-7 win over Austin Peay.

Guests in the President's Box at the Homecoming game included two former presidents, and first ladies, the Donovans and the O'Donnells, members of the Board of Regents, and Miss Judy Sheehan, reigning Homecoming queen.

Win Over Morehead Regains "Hawg Rifle"

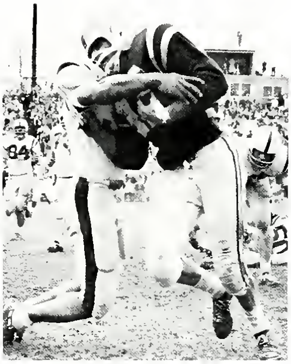
Alert Eastern turned two Morehead fumbles into touchdowns and blanked the Eagles 13-0, recapturing the "Old Hawg Rifle," for the eleventh time in twelve years. Vital recoveries of Morehead bobbles by Ed Spenik and Ken Goodhew spurred the Maroons to both their scores.

Tony Lanham capped the first scoring drive by going over from the seven and Goodhew racked up the second six-pointer with a 28-yard jaunt with a recovered fumble in mid-air.

The crowd had hardly reached their seats after intermission when Goodhew added the security score for Eastern. Lanham was particularly outstanding as he completed seven of ten passes for 74 yards. Chittum was the top ball carrier in the game, picking up 63 yards in 13 carries.

Tennessee Tech's conference champions struck quickly to grab an early 7-0 lead on Jim Shaeffer's electrifying 95-yard return of the opening kickoff, and held on for a hard-fought 14-8 triumph over the Maroons at Cookeville.

The talented Eagles scored again in the first period to lead 14-0 before the Maroons could settle down to regroup their forces. From then on, it was Eastern's game, but the Maroons could manage only one score, that coming in the waning moments of the game on an Elvin Brinegar to Chittum 60-yard pass. A two-point conversion was successful and the Maroons lost by six points to the team that eventually won the OVC.



Bill Goedde is brought down after a six-yard gain against Morehead.

Closing in for the tackle of a Morehead ball carrier are Ed Spenik (83) Richie Emmons (40) and Dick Wallace (52).

Trainer Chris Patrick and guard Ken Goodhew study the tense situation closely from the sidelines in the hotly-contested Morehead game.

Football grew in popularity as a spectator sport in 1961 as thousands of fans came to Hanger Stadium to watch action such as this Eastern-Western battle in the Maroons' Homecoming game. The OVC showed more top-to-bottom balance than in any other year.

Marshall Topples Eastern In Shrine Bowl Game

Marshall University, Mid-American Conference toughie, used the air lanes to tally three touchdowns and hand the Maroons their fifth defeat of the season, 20-0, in the second annual Shrine Bowl game at Ashland.

The passing of quarterback Ralph May and the receiving and running of halfback Millard Fleming combined to hand the Maroons their only shutout of the year and, outside of a season-opening 33-6 loss to Louisville, their worst beating of the season.

The brightest spot in Eastern's favor was the remarkable punting of freshman end Gene Stuber, whose booming punts averaged over 42 yards. Three of his kicks went over 50 yards.

This loss gave the Maroons a 4-5 season record and brought to an end their most successful season since 1957.

Co-captains Ed Spenik and Tom Sharp wish "good luck" to Middle Tennessee co-captains before that big battle.

A familiar scene in football—Spenik is replaced by Tom Stapleton, after receiving a leg injury against Morehead.

Lanham is touchdown-bound in the 13-0 win over Morehead.

The McBrayer Dynasty ends . .

Defeat was evidenced in this classic picture, taken at the end of Coach McBrayer's final game at Eastern. His team lost to Western 96-92.

A master strategist, Coach Paul McBrayer was often referred to as "the complete coach." He has been known to correct a boy's grammar before his shooting.

Dynamic Paul S. McBrayer, who has coached the Eastern Maroons to five OVC basketball championships and has been credited with lifting the Maroons from small college ranks to their present position as a major college power, ended a brilliant career at Eastern in late January when he resigned because of poor health.

In his sixteenth season here, "The Big Irishman" was forced to give up his dedicated career after a losing battle with declining health. A 1930 All-American at the University of Kentucky and one of the most respected coaches in America, he had compiled a record of 214 victories and 141 losses.

One of the highlights in his career came last spring when he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

He has been referred to as a "master strategist . . . a basketball fundamentalist with a genius for developing his players into fundamentally sound teams."

Twenty-six of his ex-players are presently coaching, most of them in Kentucky. It was fitting that one of his former All-Americans was appointed to succeed him.

"Pick him up!" cries the new coach . . .

Exact instructions are given to a player . . .

Jubilation as a scoring spurt puts the game on ice.

A New Era Begins

This suspenseful shot was taken during a crucial moment in Jim Baechtold's debut as head coach. The new coach and his pupil, Russ Mueller, express fixed emotions on the close action during the win over Morehead.

A soft-spoken six-foot four-inch former Eastern All-American, whose life has been filled with unexpected happenings, was appointed to serve as acting coach the final half of the basketball season, replacing his teacher, Paul McBrayer. The first unexpected event that is associated with Eastern came in 1948, when Jim Baechtold stopped off at the Blue Grass college to visit some friends, and he decided to stay. He was on his way to play football and basketball at a Southeastern Conference school.

The second major surprise came in late January when President Martin appointed the modest assistant coach to fill his tutor's shoes the remainder of the year.

"Big Jim" lettered all four years, made the OVC team his last three years, and was named to several All-American listings his last two years. After a brilliant career in the NBA with the Baltimore Bullets and the New York Knicks, he returned to Eastern to assist his collegiate coach.

In All-American form, he began his job as head mentor by defeating the favored Morehead Eagles in a "must" game. The remainder of the season had its "ups and downs," but the young Maroons finished far better than was expected by the basketball prognosticators, who had picked the Maroons for a fourth place finish.

The 1961-62 basketball season was a memorable one. The inexperienced Maroons started fast; most of the student body saw their team defeated on the hardwood for the first time and Coach Paul S. McBrayer, one of the most beloved and admired coaches in basketball, resigned because of poor health.

Only two lettermen, co-captains Ray Gardner and Larry Parks, returned from last year's OVC co-championship club and three untested juniors were called upon to provide the rest of the lineup for perhaps Coach McBrayer's smallest and most inexperienced team in his sixteen years at Eastern. This proved, however, to be a year of surprises.

Rupert Stephens drives for the basket as Murray's Robert Goebel tries to cut him off.

Jumpin' Larry Parks gave one of the most outstanding demonstrations of basketball ever seen at Eastern when he scored 32 points and pulled off 13 rebounds in leading the Maroons to a 102-77 rout of Northwestern Louisiana. Trailing at the half, the Maroons, sparked by Larry Parks, Jim Werk, who finished with 25, and Ron Pickett, who had 20, made a rout of it the second stanza.

Over the holidays, Eastern met the Phillips 66ers, of AAU world fame, and fans who saw the game are still pinching themselves. The Maroons, led by Jim Werk's 28, Mueller's 22, and Larry Parks' 21 points and 15 rebounds, and Stephens' 16 points, played a "near perfect" game in downing the visitors 105-80. Russ Mueller hit for a perfect 100% from the field and free throw lanes and his defense was called by Coach McBrayer, "better than his offense."

The Maroons entered the New Year as the nation's offensive leader among the major colleges and universities. They ranked third in free throw shooting, eighth in field throw accuracy, and Jim Werk was fourteenth among the nation's scorers. Amidst the celebration, however, serious consequences were in store for the Maroons.

Led by Jim Werk, the Maroons belted the New Mexico State Aggies 66-54 to begin the New Year portion of the campaign. Five players scored in double figures, with Werk leading with 18.

Murray and a 6-8 sophomore named Jim Jennings made history on January 8, when the Thoroughbreds dropped the Maroons 82-80 to snap a 38-game home court winning streak. It was Jennings' 25-footer at the horn that spelled defeat. Larry Parks had 18 points and 10 rebounds to lead the Maroons.

Ron Pickett's 27 markers paced the Eastern cagers to an 87-68 victory over OVC foe East Tennessee at Johnson City, in the first road contest. The powerful Dayton Flyers, however, caught a crippled Eastern team at the U. D. Fieldhouse ice cold, while they were having their hottest hand of the year and smothered the young Maroons 97-66. Larry Parks led Eastern with 21 points and 11 rebounds while Russ Mueller had 15 points and 12 rebounds.

The Western Hilltoppers invaded the Eastern lair and they looked every bit a champion as they took advantage of 40 of 50 free throws to win the crucial tilt 96-92. Jim Werk tallied 21, Ron Pickett 15 and Herman Smith 14 points in the losing cause. Eastern outscored the 'Toppers by nine field goals.

Western's Darel Carrier juggles the ball as Larry Parks and Ron Pickett put the pressure on him. Eastern fell 96-92 at Weaver Gym.

In a pressure-packed Weaver Gym battle that will long be remembered, the Maroons, under new coach Jim Baechtold, took a "must" victory over the Morehead Eagles, pre-season OVC favorites. Ron Pickett had 18, Jim Werk 18, and Larry Parks 14, to hand the "low-flying" Eagles that timely defeat.

Sparked by the fine play of Ray Gardner, the Maroons outlasted Middle Tennessee at Murfreesboro 64-56 in an error-filled contest and kept alive their title hopes. Four days later, Baechtold's young charges handed tough Tennessee Tech one of their five losses of the season 84-72, despite a determined effort by the Eagles. Jim Werk led the way with 25 points and Ron Pickett tallied 22.

The Murray Racers, although outrebounded and outscored from the field, handed Eastern its second loss of the season to Cal Luther's Thoroughbreds, 75-66, at Murray, to dim the Maroons' title hopes. Kay Morris led the Eastern attack with 17. A week later, Tennessee Tech's Golden Eagles handed the Maroons a second straight defeat, 67-58, in a game marred by an excessive number of fouls and an added burden of the flu bug. With Larry Parks and Rupert Stephens at under-par strength and Pickett playing most of the game with a sprained ankle, the Maroons could not overcome the many obstacles they faced.

Pickett gets the opening tip against Western's Harry Todd in the thriller at the "Big Red Barn" in Bowling Green. The Maroons lost 88-74 on a late rally at the free throw line by the Hilltoppers.

Two nights after that loss to Tech, Western wrapped the OVC title up by trouncing Morehead by a margin of 26 points. The Maroons, however, continued to be an exciting team as they romped over Middle Tennessee 113-65. With seven players scoring in double figures, the Maroons hit a blistering 60 percent of their field goal shots in setting the season high scoring mark. Ron Pickett had 23 points, Larry Parks 19, Herman Smith 16, Kay Morris 11, and Russ Mueller and Ray Gardner each had 10.

The Maroons next encountered the champs in the famous "Red Barn" and were defeated in a thriller, 88-74. Starting slow, but gaining momentum rapidly, the Maroons led in the second half on several occasions, but the Hilltoppers hit on 36 of 46 free throws to win their second game of the year from Eastern from the charity line. Russ Mueller came through again as a clutch player in scoring 13 points. Herman Smith and Jim Werk each had 12, and Rupert Stephens, Kay Morris, and Ray Gardner had 10 apiece. Western was again outscored from the field.

Five players scored in double figures to lead the Maroons to a whopping 95-74 victory over East Tennessee to set the stage for the showdown battle for second place in the OVC two nights later. Parks' 22 led the Maroons, followed by Werk with 19, Gardner with 18, Pickett 14, and Stephens 12. The Maroons' shooting percentage was 46.3 for the home finale, and the final college game to be played in Weaver Gym.

Magnificent sophomore Herman Smith came off the bench to score 17 points, all in the second half, to lead the Maroons to a come-from-behind 68-66 triumph over Morehead and gain a three-way tie for second place in the conference. The Maroons twice trailed by 13 points in the important clash that saw the Eagles bowing for the second time to the Baechtold-coached Maroons. Werk led the scoring with 18. Gardner, Parks and Brandenburg ended their college careers with this big win and Jim Baechtold finished with a fine 6-3 record since assuming the acting head coach post.

Frosh Show Promise

The young Maroon yearlings, six-strong, compiled a record that was neither impressive nor outstanding. However, flashes of brilliance were shown throughout the season as the "Baby Maroons" defeated a talented Morehead team on a foreign hardwood and narrowly lost to the Cincinnati freshmen, one of the top frosh squads in the nation, in some of the season's highlights. Many of the faces will be remembered during the next three years as varsity players performing in Alumni Coliseum.

Maroon's Baseball Superiority Ends

Eastern's superiority in the Ohio Valley Conference ended last spring as the 1961 baseball Maroons dropped to the second division for the first time in compiling the losingest season under Coach "Turkey" Hughes' tutorship.

After opening the season with an impressive two-game series with Indiana University, of the Big Ten, ranked among the nation's top ten clubs, then nipping a good Toledo University team, and a strong East Tennessee, the Maroons "hit the skids" in dropping 9 of their last 12 games. This losing skein included 7 of their last 9 OVC games.

The Maroons handed the Hoosiers a 4-3 loss in the opener, then lost 7-5 in a hard-fought 10-inning contest. They downed Toledo 4-2 and East Tennessee 13-7. This early season success highlighted the entire campaign.

Outfielder Bill Curry, who led the team in batting, with a .333 mark, was named to the Eastern Division All-OVC first team for the second consecutive year. Pitcher Dave Quick, although only 1-4 for the season, also was named to the first team. Others mentioned on the balloting were Bill Goedde, Heber Dunaway, and Earl Campbell.

Thin-Clads Record Perfect 13-0 Season

Eastern's 1961 track and field squad posted an all-time winning record of thirteen victories in compiling the first perfect season in history. Spurred on by a tremendous team spirit and highly competitive record-breaking performances, the Maroons of Coach Glenn Gossett averaged over 100 points in the thirteen regular season meets. Six new school records were established by the '61 squad, including: Pole vault, 12′6″, by Larry Wetenkamp; Two-mile run, 10′10″, by Ernie Brown; Broad jump, 22′6″, by Ernie Dalton; 440 relay, 43.5″, by Roger Kincer, Bob Scott, Richie Emmons, and Dennis Sprous; One-mile run, 3′25″, by Bob Scott, Ed Spenik, Ray Scarton, and Ben Price; and Mile run, 4′34.1″, by David White.

In only five meets did the Maroons fail to top the century mark. Highlights of the season were impressive wins over Georgetown, 105½ to 25½, and 104½ to 26½; Marshall University, 108 to 19; Western Kentucky, 96 to 31; Tennessee Tech, 82⅓ to 53⅔; and the University of the South, 91-40.

Although they finished fifth in the Ohio Valley Conference meet, Eastern led in the qaulifying rounds by placing seven men in the finals.

Coach Glenn Presnell's top golfers were freshman Kettenacker, who finished with an average of 75 for the season; Motley, a 77 average; Wierwille, a 78 average and Van Hoose, with a 79 average.

Cross County Runners Compete

In its second year of intercollegiate competition, the Maroons' 1961 cross-country squad featured some outstanding runners, including lettermen Ernie Brown, Dave White, and John Thomas. In 1960, their first year, the runners compiled a 5-4-1 record that included two victories over the University of Tennessee, and wins over Cumberland College, Bellarmine and Villa Madonna. Highlight of the early portion of the '61 campaign was an impressive win over a strong Morehead team.

Men's Intramurals

An attractive eight-sport intramural program was put into high gear this year by Mr. Jess White, new director of intramural sports. Sports that began in the fall and will continue through next summer were football, volleyball, bowling, basketball, softball, tennis, track, and cross-country.

The purpose of the intramural program is to provide a variety of sports activities for all students through which they may benefit from healthful exercise, while enjoying wholesome recreational activities and developing permanent interests and skills in sports.

Champion of the football title was "The Leftovers," captained by Louie Vaughn. Volleyball champ was the "Satchwells," captained by Bill Satchwell; David Jones copped the "Turkey Run," held just prior to Thanksgiving. Printing deadlines prevented the listing of other champions.

WOMEN'S SPORT

The Department of Physical Education for Women provides many recreational opportunities through intercollegiate and intramural sports. The intramural program is presented through team sports—tennis, bowling, and ping-pong. Highlighting the intercollegiate sports were the hockey victories over the University of Kentucky and Berea.

In addition to participating in team sports, proficiency in individual sports: tennis, bowling, swimming, ping-pong, badminton, and archery are encouraged.

The women's locker room without Miss Hood and Stony would be like playing hockey without a stick.

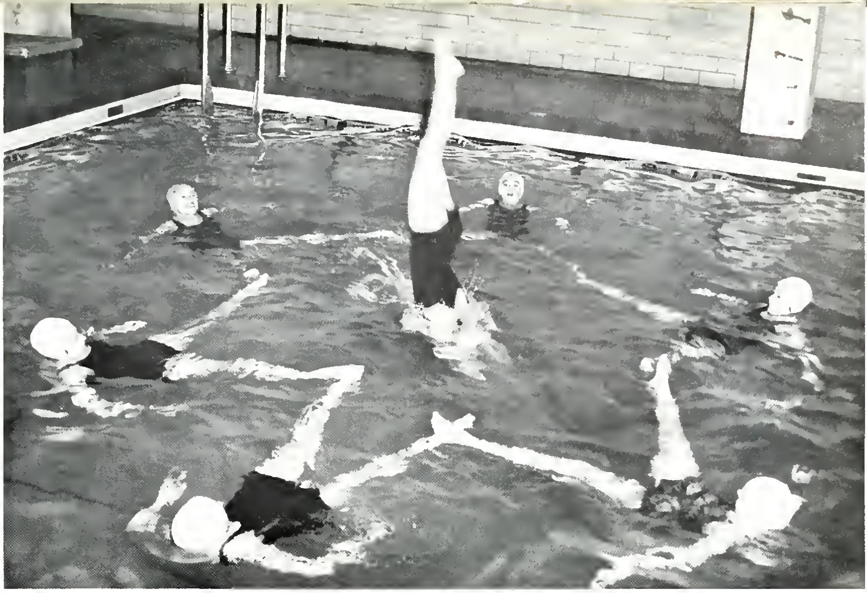
Women's Recreation Association

Judy Campbell shows good form in executing the "front scale" on the balance beam as Myrna Young spots for her.

The Women's Recreation Association encourages interest and participation in physical activities for recreation, as well as furthering the idea of good sportsmanship. The WRA sponsors both the intercollegiate and intramural sports program. Outstanding achievement is recognized at the annual banquet, when awards are presented for points earned for participation in intramurals, individual and team sports, intercollegiate games, clinics, and sports days.

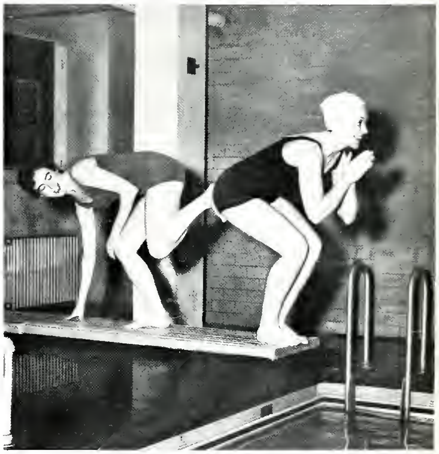
Kappa Kappa Sigma



Mary Carol Welch dives into a star formation formed by other KKS members.

Kappa Kappa Sigma has as its major activity the presentation of the annual spring swim show. New members are selected each year by trying out before the present members. A scholarship award is presented annually to help send a deserving student to aquatic school.

You won't drown—let go and "swim."



Joan Maggard and Betty Hancock take time out from practice and just "goof off."

President Anne Stanley Johnson conducts the usual business meeting before swimming.

Fran Stock and Jackie Howard work to elude their guards, Barbara Sammons and Shirlee Bates.

Basketball

Myrna Young gets the tip from Connie Moore as her teammates wait for some action.

Basketball attracts more participants than any of the other sports. After conditioning and drilling on specific skills for a few weeks, they have the long awaited "first scrimmage." These scrimmages prepare them for the inter-school schedule, which is highlighted by the annual battle with arch-rival, U. of K.

Sue Marcum makes a determined effort to block Sharon Musen's "deadly" hook shot.

Softball And Volleyball

The volleyball season was highlighted with victories over Lee's Junior College, Morehead, and Berea College. The girls participated in a sports day at Centre College, where after several exciting games, they were finally eliminated by Georgetown College.

When softball season rolls around, everyone is anxious to get outdoors in the sunshine. It could be that they like to be out "where the boys are."

Sharon Musen gets ready to spike the ball as Barbara Seevers and Joan Maggard go up to block.

Sharon Musen scurries to first base as Pat Poteet stretches for the throw on a close play.

Umpire Pat Poteet watches closely as Linda Spalding awaits the first pitch to Nettie Farris.

INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

Individual sports—archery, swimming, badminton, tennis, ping-pong, bowling and others—are participated in at one's leisure for fun and enjoyment.

Pat Poteet serves to Sharon Musen in a tennis match on the old courts.

Archery ace Barbara Seevers demonstrates excellent form as she eyes the target.

Judy Burks concentrates on the "birdie" during a badminton game.

Pat Taulbee enjoys bowling at the new Maroon Lanes. Will she strike or miss?

The action gets fast and furious as Shirlee Bates and Gaye Danford take on Pat Poteet and Nancy Tarter in a ping-pong match.

Volleyball

The Round Robin Tournament in volleyball showed exciting action. By cooperating in strategic plays, the skillful players gave their all to win.

Kay Whitaker, Selma Siekman, Jackie Howard, Linda Spalding and Shirlee Bates helped bring victory to the "High Jumpers."

INTRAMURALS

Kay Whitaker of the winning "High Jumpers" successfully recovers the ball from the net while co-captain Linda Spalding is anxiously waiting.

Anita Yaden and Kay Whitaker "bully" for the ball to start the game.

Sue Hobbs, Alice Adkins, Anita Yaden, Jetta Stamper, Fran Stock, Debbie Murrell, Kay Whitaker, and Linda Spalding are happy about their team's victory.

Hockey

Hockey intramurals lasted through rain, sleet, and snow. Enthusiasm was great, and participants didn't seem to mind the weather. Every team played their heart out for fun and of course to win.

Colonel Joe M. Sanders
Professor of Military Science

The primary mission of the ROTC is to produce junior officers for all components of the United States Army. A vital secondary mission is to impart citizenship training, to develop leadership potential and to motivate the student for future useful service in behalf of the nation in whatever profession he chooses.

ROTC is under the guidance of Col. Joe M. Sanders, who is serving in the U.S. Army Infantry. Male students who are physically and mentally able are required to participate in the basic program, which lasts two years. From the basic course a select group is chosen to continue the program with advanced courses. These students attend a six-week summer camp between their junior and senior years and upon graduation from Eastern are commissioned second lieutenants, either in the Reserve or Regular Army.

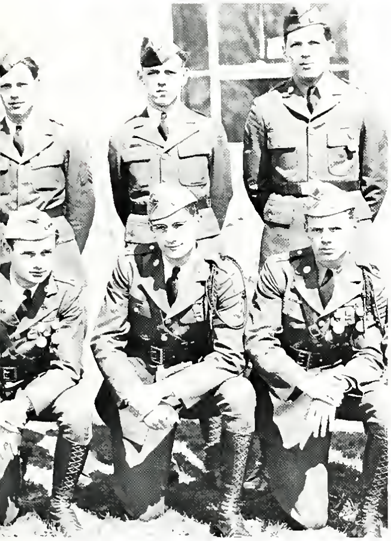
an artillery program.



The changes are obvious since the ROTC program was begun in 1936, with 125 cadets in the cadet brigade then, compared to the 1961 brigade, numbering nearly 1,000.

From ROTC cadet in 1938, to Brigadier General in 1961, the Eastern Outstanding Alumnus Award was presented to General Adriel' Williams.

In 1961
a general military program.

AUSA

The John N. Combs Memorial Company of the Association of the United States Army is an organization which strives to attain the aims and objectives of the Army through the exchange of ideas and information on military matters and by fostering the legitimate and proper role of the Army of the United States.

The club officers, Harve Turner, Harry Campbell, Ronald Wallace, George Dopp, and Jim Farris meet to discuss plans for the Military Ball with Capt. Queeney, the club advisor.

Brigade Sponsor Evelyn Craft and Cadet John Parrish ride the ROTC float in the Homecoming Parade. The float is sponsored by the AUSA.

Distinguished Military Graduates

The Badge of the D.M.S. is awarded to the cadet designated in his senior year by the Professor of Military Science for outstanding achievement during the preceding three-year period; he has an opportunity to apply for a Regular Army Commission. This opportunity is extended only to those students of high leadership potential and who stand academically in the upper one-third of the advanced course. It is the highest award given by the ROTC Department.

Outstanding Freshmen—Kenton Moberly, Dwight Short, Robert Vickers, Richard Laughlin, William Brown.

Outstanding Sophomores—Robert Thomas, James Houston, William Eddins, Robert Leigh, James Hughes.

1961 - 1962 Outstanding Cadets

Outstanding Juniors—John Morris, John Hanlon, George Beckett, Stephen McMillian.

Outstanding Seniors—Alan Coleman, James Farris, George Dopp, Ralph Newman, Harve Turner.

Rifle Team

Annually one of the nation's outstanding teams, the Eastern firers placed second in the national final Postal Shoot-off last year to cap a 10-3 season. Under the direction of Sgt. Paul Jouvre, who was responsible for the stepped-up program, the Eastern team has compiled an envious record during the past five years. This year's team was expected to be the finest in history with five bulls-eye lettermen returning. Sgt. Willis Brickey is in his first year as coach of the team.

JOUVRE RANGE

JOUVRE RANGE is dedicated by President Martin and Col. Sanders in honor of the retiring coach, Sgt. Paul Jouvre.

Team members Bill Loveall and Elmo Evans firing in the standing position.

Many long hours are spent in practice sessions in preparation for record firing.

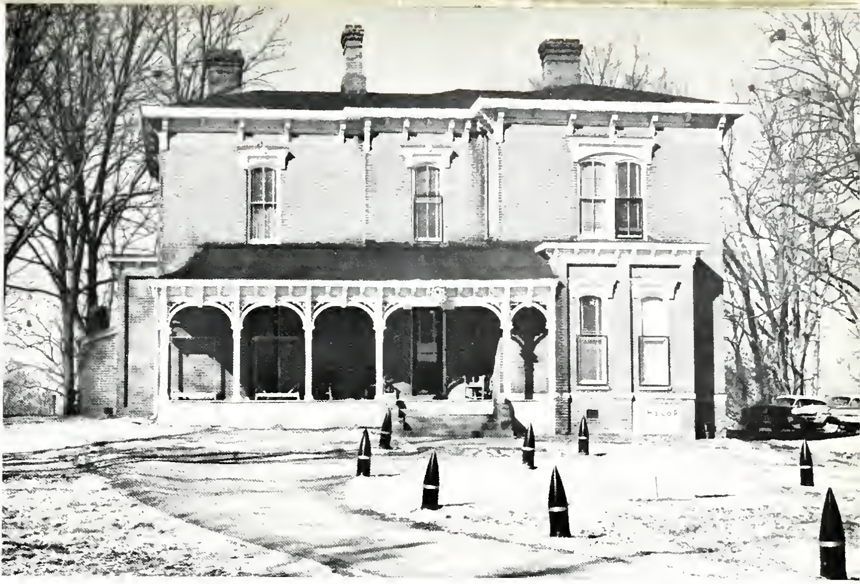
Lancaster House

The Lancaster House was given to the P.R.'s in February of 1961. It is the center of all P.R. functions and is the only organization on campus to have their own house.



P.R.'s Elmo Evans and Charles King find time to play some selections on the stereo, which was won in a campus contest.

House members Bob Cornett and Hershel Hisel spend Thursday night getting ready for Friday Corps Day.

The P.R. pledges perform one of their many work details during initiation period.

P.R. pledges keep the House yard "squared away" during Pledge Period which lasts for one semester.

Corps Sponsors

The Corps Sponsors are the pride of the ROTC Department. The girls learn the basic fundamentals essential for the first year cadet which include marching, saluting, recognition of rank and military courtesy.

Corps Sponsors strike a picturesque pose—Evelyn Craft, Jeanie Sanders, Judy Kendle, Margaret Ball, and Londa Lewis.

The Sponsors and Captain Espy enjoy the Southern drawl of Captain Simpson.

The Sponsors stand beside the plaque of Daniel Boone, the symbol of the Eastern ROTC crest.

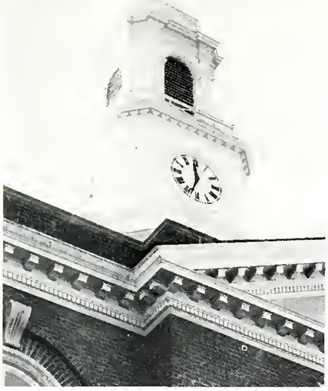
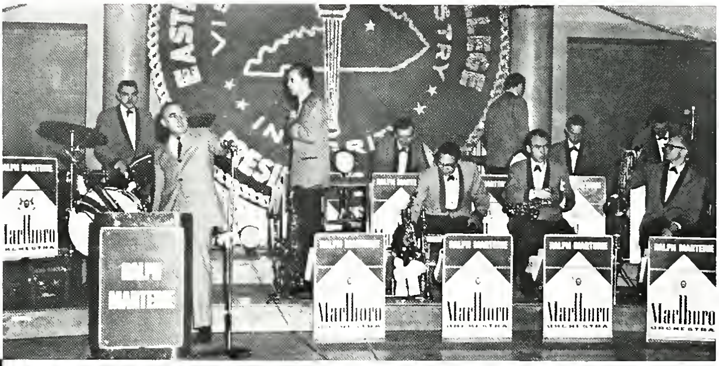
IN RETROSPECT . . . .



The Traditional—The tower clock, symbolic of the passing of time and of the Eastern we have come to love

While the student body is busy at work and play, the 1961-62 school year swiftly comes to an end. Perhaps you are not aware of the elements of time, of change, of happiness, and of sorrow as you have busily prepared yourself for classes, for the big ball game, or for that special someone, but they have all made this year. Now these events are memories. As you leave Eastern, you will take them with you, and as we leave, we highlight some of these memories . . .

The Man With The Horn . . .



That memorable evening with Ralph Marterie

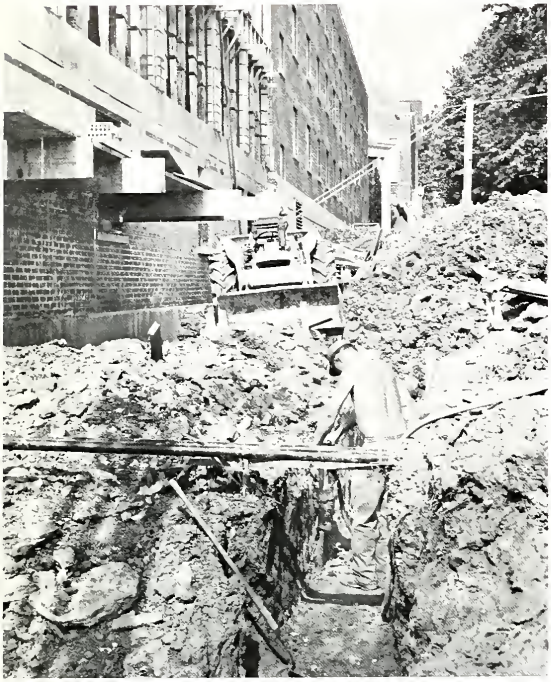
The Twist

The craze that swept the nation

Return Of The "Hawg Rifle"

One year in eleven was enough to be without the familiar rifle

. . . Mud And Mortar



A familiar scene that has taken its place among our memories

Eastern's students had a new experience in watching the Maroons' four-year home winning streak come to an end.

Our First Loss . . .

Our new Coach . . . .

A new era in basketball began when Jim Baechtold celebrated his first victory as head coach after the Maroons had responded with a victory over Morehead.

Jesse Stuart's Autograph Party . . .

Over seven hundred students received personal inscriptions and autographs from a weary, but satisfied Jesse Stuart.

PROGRESS Recieves First Place Rating...

Marion Bazzy, Editor-in-Chief of the EASTERN PROGRESS, receives her award for guiding her young staff to a first place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

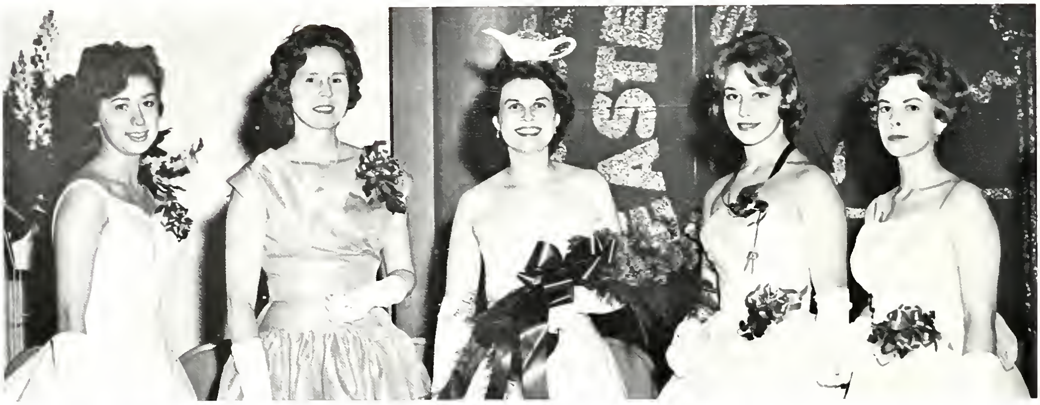
Founder's Day...

"Only Yesterday" was the subject of Professor W. L. Keen's address at the Founder's Day Program which commemorated the founding of Eastern fifty-six years ago.

Recognition...

Collegiate Pentacle President, Barbara Edwards, presented to retiring Dean of Women, Mrs. Emma Case, a silver tea service, climaxing the fifteenth annual Honors Day for Women.

The Queen of Scholarship and Court . . .



Queen of Scholarship, Mrs. Margaret Barczuk, center, and her court, Miss Mary Catherine Thomas, Mrs. Jean Silk, Miss Myrna Menninger, and Miss Sandra Nunnelley received highest honors on Women's Honors Day.

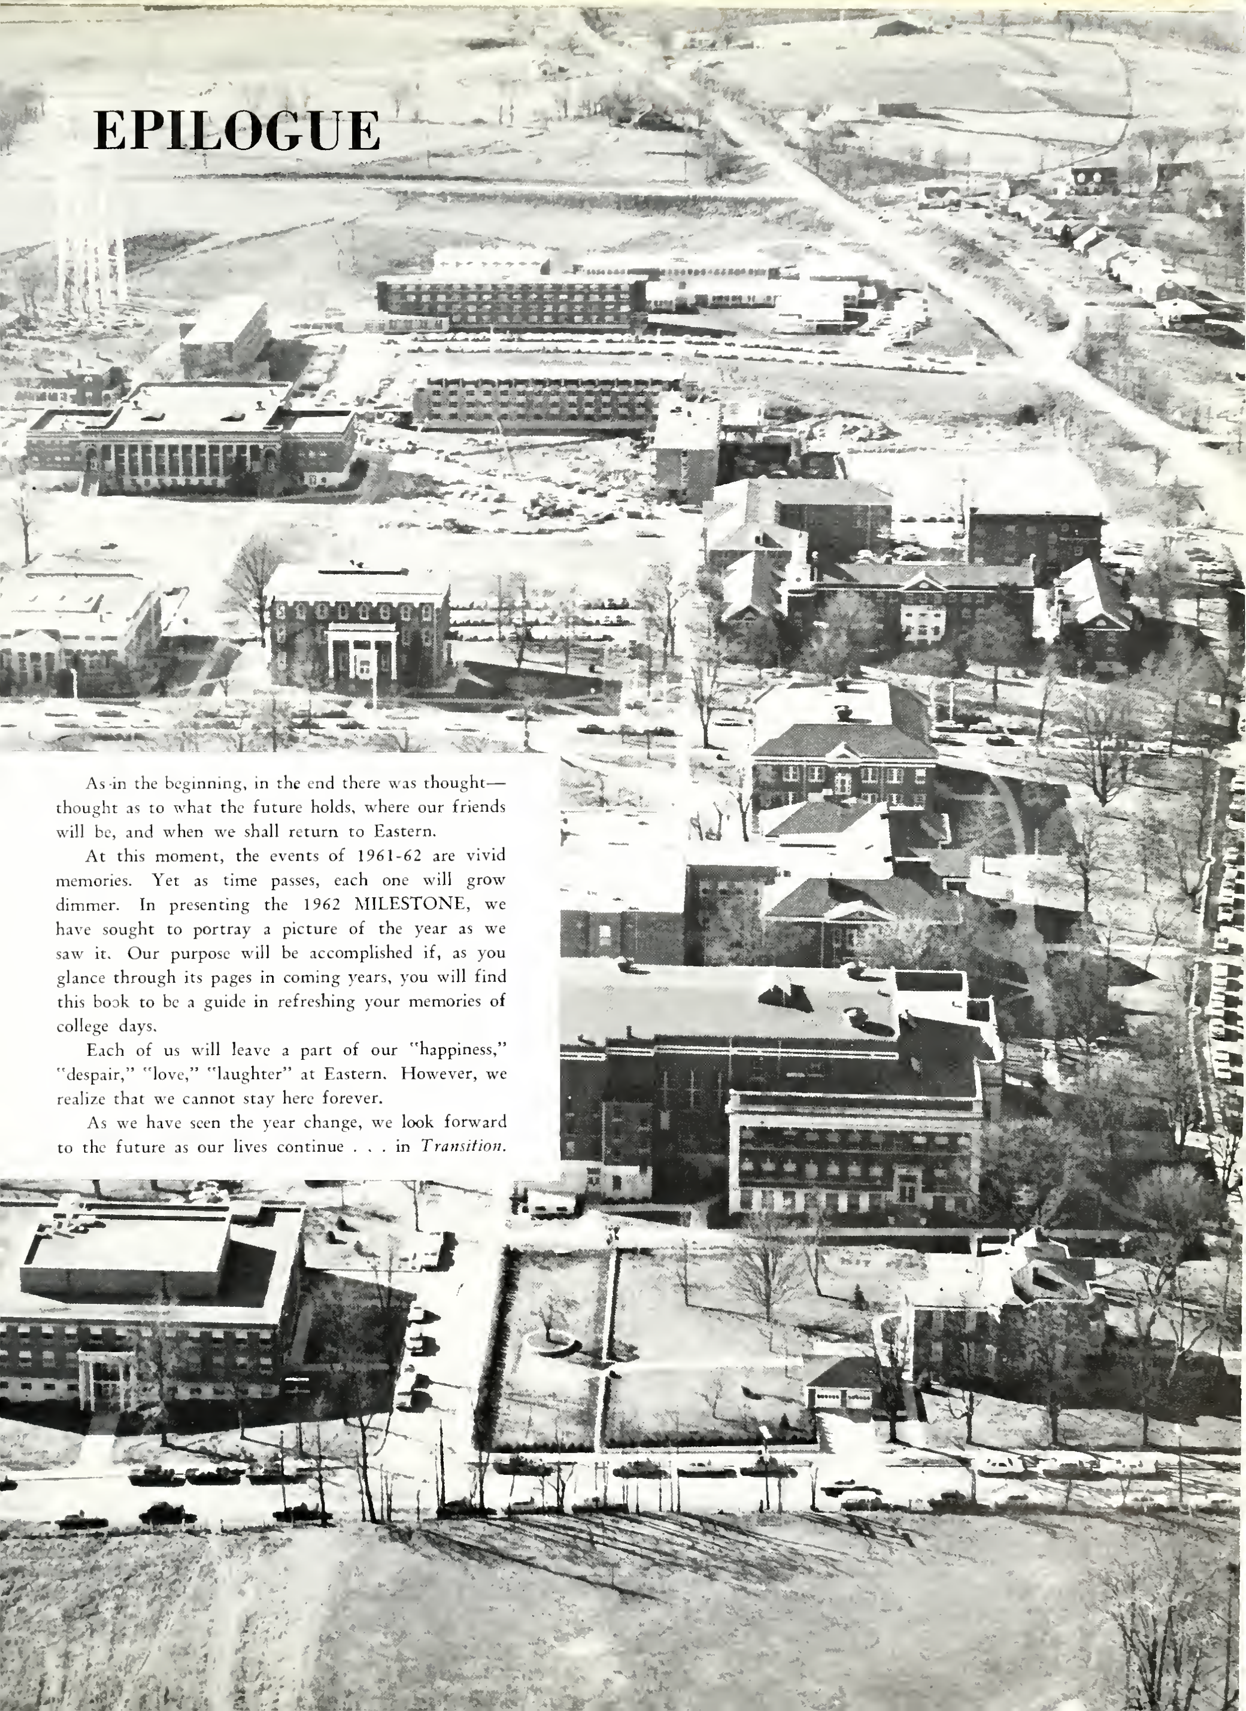
Florida Bound . . .

Spring vacation and a week to play . . . Eastern's students headed for sunny Florida.

Tougher Exams

Many hours of study and preparation are climaxed by the inevitable final examination.

EPILOGUE



As in the beginning, in the end there was thought—thought as to what the future holds, where our friends will be, and when we shall return to Eastern.

At this moment, the events of 1961-62 are vivid memories. Yet as time passes, each one will grow dimmer. In presenting the 1962 MILESTONE, we have sought to portray a picture of the year as we saw it. Our purpose will be accomplished if, as you glance through its pages in coming years, you will find this book to be a guide in refreshing your memories of college days.

Each of us will leave a part of our "happiness," "despair," "love," "laughter" at Eastern. However, we realize that we cannot stay here forever.

As we have seen the year change, we look forward to the future as our lives continue . . . in Transition.

Editor's Note

A lot of people are involved in making a successful yearbook. The work cannot be done by a small group. However, with the cooperation of many people, we hope that we have presented to the student body a book that will be treasured. On this page we express our sincere thanks to those persons who are responsible for making this, the 1962 MILESTONE, a success.

Billy Davis, LOUISVILLE COURIER JOURNAL, for color photographs, pp. 9 and 15.

Steve May, Osborne Photo Lab, Cincinnati, Ohio, for color, pp. 1, 2, 3, and 8.

Stanifer's Studio for seniors, graduates, and faculty photographs.

State Police Lieutenant Spercel Fayne for color photos of Governor Combs and President Martin, pp. 14-15.

Chester Buchanan, Jeff Miller, and Tom Coffey, for Student Life and organization photos.

Bob Walter, Publisher, S. B. Newman Printing Company, Knoxville, Tennessee.

We also express our sincere thanks to the members of the MILESTONE Staff, who have worked many long and tiring hours to put this book together. Finally, we thank Mr. Feltner for his patience, for his guidance in planning the book, and for his advice.
